Nature and Man
Not Blondes, Redheads,

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.

THE SYMPATHY of the United States goes out to Cuba and any assistance that may be needed will gladly be given. Nature strikes suddenly, unexpectedly, blindly, now in one corner of the earth, now in another.

Compared with man, nature is a feeble killer. Her greatest acts of violence amount to little, compared with his.

AS IS USUAL in modern days, Cuba's earthquake shows no indication of a "special Providence" interfering in earth's affairs, or any miraculous intervention to minimize evil.

The great cathedral of Santiago is in ruins. A special Providence would have protected that sacred building.

And worse, the roof of the maternity ward of the City Hospital fell in, killing women and their babies. A special Providence would have taken care of those poor mothers and newborn children, even before protecting the cathedral itself.

"I'll do anything in reason, Maria, but I WON'T come 'ome."

In reply to requests made by the League of Nations, Japan replies that she'll do anything in reason, but she will not take her troops and go home. She couldn't think of leaving her nationals to the mercy of the savage Chinese.

AS WESTERN nations are sending fighting men, ships and planes to Shanghai to protect their nationals, Japan is once more following Europe's example.

Otherwise things requested by the League of Nations—security for foreigners in China, etc.—are exactly the things that Japan had in mind. In fact, she went to China to arrange them.

SOMETIMES MEN and nations making demonstrations mean them; sometimes they do not mean them.

Italy, sending battleships and men to China, means every bit of it. Mussolini's married daughter is in China, with a small baby, and a husband in the Italian diplomatic service.

If anything happens to that mother or her child, which Heaven forbid, Mussolini will make somebody feel sorry for it.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS sends all the way from New York news that "This year's American beauty is a perfect 34, and a blonde with brown eyes." Such a beauty was selected from among 500 contestants.

The winning lady doubtless is an exception, but usually "blonde with brown eyes" is a brunette who has done something to make her hair yellow. Yellow hair goes naturally with blue eyes.

ONE EXPERT now here known all around the world, Anita Loos, who wrote "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" does not agree with the New York beauty experts. She told Mary Pickford and her husband, Douglas Fairbanks:

In fact Miss Loos is writing a scenario about a red-headed lady for Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg and the other celebrities of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

MISS LOOS SAYS she has a machine, from Germany, that will take five pounds off your weight in one day. It is a kind of a cabinet in which you sit covered with suds. Miss Loos should have some doctor tell her how many years will probably be taken off her life, while taking five pounds off her weight.

DURING THE LAST few days of storms, fog, heavy snow on the mountains, there have been numerous distressing airplane accidents, great courage shown by pilots as always.

Nothing can be done for the brave man gone, but something could be done to protect the mail by providing fireproof containers for mail planes.

The Johns-Manville Company, collaborating with the Aluminum Company of America, could provide extremely light containers of duralumin interlined with asbestos that would save the mail from fire.

MANY WILL regret that Ex-Secretary Fall's appeal for a pardon has been finally rejected. He must serve his term of a year and a day, and then pay $100,000 fine, or it will be necessary for him to take the pauper's oath, and serve thirty days more in jail.

Because he is old and in weak health, and especially because those that gave the bribe suffered no punishment, although they were the greater criminals, many would have liked to see Mr. Fall released, had it been possible.

America and Great Britain again protested to Japan against use of the International Settlement at Shanghai as a base for operations.

This came in the wake of Japan's rejection of two previous American-British proposals for peace and conditional acceptance of three.

As the new note went forward, shells screamed over the International Settlement, bursting among a group of buildings and setting them afire.

The forts at Woosung withstood another terrific bombardment from Japanese warships in the Whangpoo, but neither side appeared to have gained any important advantage.

While that engagement was going on 300 Marines were landed at Shanghai from the U. S. S. Houston.

A full division of the Japanese army is to be sent to Shanghai to replace the bluejackets who have been there since last Friday, the government at Tokio decided.

There were unconfirmed reports in Shanghai that Admiral Shiosawa, the Japanese naval commander, had committed suicide because of the government's action in replacing him with Admiral Nomura. The report was officially denied.

The Soviet ambassador called on the Japanese foreign minister regarding activities of Japanese forces in the Harbin area, particularly with reference to the use of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which Russia owns jointly with China, for the transportation of Japanese troops.

SHANGHAI, China, Friday, Feb. 5.—(AP.)—Guns heavier than any used heretofore shook the whole city of Shanghai early this morning as the Japanese continued efforts, thus far unsuccessful, to blast the Chinese army out of Chapei.

From their sound they were six-inch guns, and against that roaring background, the tattoo of machine guns came constantly from what appeared to be an extensive line. All the fire was directed at the Chinese positions north of the city and the Chinese were returning the attack with field pieces and machine guns.

GHASTLY GLARE

Fires in Chapei threw a ghastly glare over the whole northern section, advancing slowly toward the Settlement boundaries before a stiff, cold north wind.

As artillery blazed across the battered area of Chapei last night, a shell screamed over the International Settlement boundary, bursting among a group of Chinese buildings within a block of the main postoffice.

Half a dozen Chinese were injured and fire broke out. Several houses burned before the fire was brought under control. This was the first serious damage in the Settlement since the artillery duel between Chinese and Japanese forces began.

Tonight the Chinese appeared to be holding their own or perhaps a little better, for the Japanese guns set up in Hongkew had not succeeded in blasting them out of their positions.

Three huge fires were raging inside the Chinese lines and the shell which dropped in the Settlement caused consternation among Chinse and foreign residents alike.

Settlement police withdrew to the Soochow Creek and all day long Japanese women and children in considerable numbers were being evacuated on ships.

FORTS BOMBARDED

While the artillery rocked Chapei the bombardment of the Woosung forts a little way outside the city was resumed. Conflicting claims made it difficult to determine just how the battle was going.

The Chinese said Japanese warships ceased firing at 8

GRANTHAM SOLD TO CINCINNATI

George Grantham, Pittsburgh Pirate infielder since 1925, was sold to the Cincinnati Reds for a cash consideration just before noon today. In announcing the transaction, Secretary Sam Watters, of the Pirates, did not divulge the purchase price, but it is known that the amount was below $10,000.

Manager George Gibson, of the Pirates, and President Sidney Weil, of the Reds, closed the deal in a conference held with Watters in the Pirate office. Grantham came to the Pirates in the winter of 1924-25 in a deal involving Pitcher Vic Aldridge and Firstbaseman Al Neihaus, of the Cubs, and Shortstop Walter Maranville, Firstbaseman Charley Grimm and Pitcher Wilbur Cooper, of the Pirates.

Mellon to Wear Knickers? He Only Smiles

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(INS.)—Smoking the inevitable miniature cigar, destined to become as famous in London as Gen. Charles G. Dawes' underslung pipe, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in a reminiscent mood today, told newspaper correspondents, who voiced their regrets at this retirement from the Treasury to be the American Ambassador in London:

"We all have to change about in this world. We can't keep going on in the same channels all the time."

With a smile, he said he had given no consideration as to whether he will wear short trousers at court functions in London. He remarked that it was a preference what would be worn—not a necessity.

Mr. Mellon plans to remain in the United States about a month and possibly will spend a week or two in the South because of a slight cold. He intends to maintain his spacious apartment in Washington for use on future visits to the capital.

The new ambassador anticipates a congenial task in London. He remarked that he already had established some contacts abroad and that while there will be important problems to be met, he did not look for any difficulties.

NAME MILLS TO SUCCEED MELLON

Aide Rises as Treasury Head Accepts Ambassadorship; Approval by Senate Seen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Odgen Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, was named formally by President Hoover today to be Secretary of the Treasury, succeeding Andrew W. Mellon.

The announcement of Mills' succession was made while he sat in conference in a nearby room with President Hoover.

The Chief Executive announced late last night that Mellon had accepted the ambassadorship to Great Britain, succeeding Charles G. Dawes, now president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. At that time, however, he made no mention of Mellon's successor.

In announcing Mr. Mellon's decision to accept the London portfolio, a few hours after it was learned it had been offered to him, President Hoover said the tense condition of international relations, the all-important economic problems now facing the world, dictated the selection, requiring as they do "experience and judgment of the highest order."

LAUDED BY HOOVER

In announcing Mellon's acceptance, the President called him "one of our wisest and most distinguished public servants."

The formal appointment is expected to go to the Senate directly. There, despite the presence of numerous and bitter foes to Mellon's financial policies, confirmation without delay has been predicted. Mills, for the past two years virtual director of most Treasury affairs, also is promised ready approval.

Mellon is 77. He left a career of banking and industry to enter the cabinet in March, 1921. Through the post-war readjustment and the ensuing halcyon days of booming prosperity, into the present unsettled period, he laid out and executed firm policies which won for him unstinted applause and also vitriolic denunciation. Through the years he has withstood unshaken congressional efforts to oust him, but even now a House committee has under consideration an impeachment proposal.

Church Conflict Ends in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4.—(INS.)—President Ortiz Rubio and Archbishop Pascual Diaz today reached an agreement for a settlement of the church and state conflict and churches in the federal district of Mexico City and in Lower California will reopen for masses tomorrow.

American Advice From A Great American

IN the war crisis in China there are possibilities of much trouble for the United States and of no advantage.

The possibilities of trouble are greatly increased by the fact that this nation has at this time a dangerous man in the White House,— an injudicious man, a meddlesome man, a man apparently bent upon entangling this country in every foreign complication which may arise.

Yet there is no need whatever for American participation in the Chino-Japanese conflict.

As long as we can protect our nationals at Shanghai and elsewhere in China WITHOUT INVOLVING THE UNITED STATES IN THE WARFARE BETWEEN JAPAN AND CHINA, we owe it to ourselves as a nation to provide such protection.

When we can no longer protect our nationals on the mainland of Asia without being dragged into the warfare between Japan and China, we should evacuate our nationals to Manila and organize for their protection there until it is safe for them to return to China.

UNDER no circumstances should the United States permit European powers to use the open door policy, the Kellogg pact, the League of Nations covenant, or any other excuse camouflaging their own interests TO INVOLVE THIS COUNTRY IN THE CONFLICT BETWEEN JAPAN AND CHINA.

It is true that the United States enunciated the open door policy more than 30 years ago in an effort to discourage the partition of China, foster peace in the Far East, and keep open the channels of trade for ourselves and other nations.

But President Roosevelt, a man of far greater wisdom and far better Americanism than the present President, spoke powerfully and truthfully for the American people when he declared that they would never go to war to enforce the open door policy in the Far East.

As President, Roosevelt acted upon this assumption in his conduct of our foreign relations; and after he left the White House, he urged his successor there to do likewise.

WRITING to President Taft on December 22, 1910, Roosevelt said:

"OUR VITAL INTEREST IS TO KEEP THE JAPANESE OUT OF OUR COUNTRY AND AT THE SAME TIME TO PRESERVE THE GOOD WILL OF JAPAN. THE VITAL INTEREST OF THE JAPANESE, ON THE OTHER HAND, IS IN MANCHURIA AND KOREA.

"IT IS THEREFORE PECULIARLY OUR INTEREST NOT TO TAKE ANY STEPS AS REGARDS MANCHURIA WHICH WILL GIVE THE JAPANESE CAUSE TO FEEL, WITH OR WITHOUT REASON, THAT WE ARE HOSTILE TO THEM, OR A MENACE—IN HOWEVER SLIGHT A DEGREE — TO THEIR INTERESTS . . . I DO NOT BELIEVE IN OUR TAKING ANY POSITION UNLESS WE CAN MAKE GOOD; AND AS REGARDS MANCHURIA, IF THE JAPANESE CHOOSE TO FOLLOW A COURSE OF CONDUCT TO WHICH WE ARE ADVERSE, WE CANNOT STOP IT UNLESS WE ARE PREPARED TO

TEAR BOMBS ROUT RED RIOTERS

Police Charge 5,000 at McKeesport, Hold 40; Break Up 'Hill' Parade

A crowd of 5,000 spectators and Reds were routed by police outside the McKeesport Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station today in one of the most riotous demonstartions ever staged there.

Police threw countless tear gas bombs into the crowd.

Two women, one an attractive girl, were dragged away by police when they tried to make speeches.

A Red who climbed a telegraph pole and started to talk was pulled down by a policeman and beaten over the head.

HILL MARCH DISPERSED

In the Hill district police broke up the second attempt at a Communist demonstration within a week this afternoon by arresting nearly 50 men and two women when they formed a parade with banners in an alley off Wylie avenue, near Fullerton street, demanding passage of the Workers' Unemployment Insurance bill by Congress. All were lodged in Center Avenue Police Station charged with violating a city ordinance, in that they had no permit.

Clouds of tear gas filled the territory at Fifth avenue and Locust street, McKeesport, as police bore down on the groups and dispersed them.

Tears running from their eyes, the spectators and Red scurried to safety.

EIGHT ARRESTED

Eight persons, including the two women, were arrested before the crowd had been dispersed.

The demonstration was called by Communists and the Unemployment Council.

McKeesport's Council two weeks ago refused a permit for the meeting.

Chief of Police John J. Whalen and 30 police and detectives mingled with the crowd as it gathered this afternoon.

Many of the crowd had circulars in which the Communists demanded relief measures and criticized McKeesport's mayor, George H. Lysle, and Council for refusing to allow the meeting.

MISSING CHILD FOUND SLAIN

She had been missing from her home since yesterday and Brooklyn policemen, armed with floodlights, had searched cellars, alleys and housetops all night.

A widespread search for a maniac was immediately intensified. He was believed to have murdered another Brooklyn child last year, and attacked three others within the last two months.

The cellar where the body was found was only 75 feet from the little girl's home. It was beneath a store occupied until Monday by a band of roving gypsies, police were told.

GIBBONS PICTURES BATTLE LULL TO SALUTE U. S. FLEET

JAPANESE BAND PLAYS OUR ANTHEM

Cease Firing on Chinese Fort to Salute Admiral As Warships Steam Past

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Famous War Correspondent and Headline Hunter of the Radio

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4.—Hello everybody, and let me get into the mike while it's hot!

You knew weird things have occurred on the China coast down through the centuries since "Sam Whiteman" and "John Chinaman" began playing at trade and cheat. But I sorter doubt if ever there was a stranger sight than that witnessed at high noon yesterday where the muddy waters of the Yangtze run into the Yellow Sea.

You see, boys and girls, there's a war on and yet it ain't a war. The Japanese and Chinese in all diplomatic friendliness and martial belligerency have been socking one another all over Shanghai for the last five days and nights and plenty of Asiatics have gone to the land of their ancestors and Yanks and Englishmen and Frenchies and Italians—yes, and the Portuguese have been dodging and ducking chunks of steel and dynamite until everybody's nerves are all frayed out.

U. S. SUPPLIES CLIMAX

Well, sir, the whole cockeyed shooting-match reached its latest climax shortly before noon yesterday, when Uncle Sam's fleet sailed right smack through the middle of the battle between the Japanese Navy and the Chinese land forces. Never was a stranger or more serious battle interrupted by a more unwelcome outsider.

You see, the battle started sort of prematurely due to the excitement and the injured feelings of Japanese sailors who had been ruthlessly provoked to defense when a Chinese soldier tried to sink a peaceful Japanese cruiser by firing his pistol point blank at it as it steamed harmlessly down the river past Woosung Fort.

Were those Japanese mad?

Say, they sailed right down the Whangpoo and turned those big eight-inch guns on that Whangpoo River fort and just blew it to pieces.

Out of the gray mists hanging over the Yangtze down the stream toward the sea appeared a high battlegray bow, and the tripod masts of a new warship. The Japanese lookouts above trained their glasses and referred to the naval silhouette books and identified the newcomer.

NEWEST CRUISER

She was one of Uncle Sam's newest battle buggies, the 10,000-ton cruiser Houston, flagship of the Asiatic squadron, 48 hours out of Manila, with Admiral Montgomery H. Taylor commanding.

The Japanese are a proud and polite people. Here was the chance to do honor to a visitor and celebrate a victory at the same time, and the Japanese navy rose to the occasion with eagerness.

COURTESY RETURNED

Well, sir, thank old John Paul Jones or whoever taught us—we have politeness in our Navy also.

Admiral Taylor recognized the oncoming warships. As there was no time to receive instructions from the State Department, our officers and men knew exactly the right thing to do at the right time.

The Japanese line of three cruisers and four destroyers passed to port of the Houston.

The Japanese guns were firing a 17-gun salute to Admiral Taylor and from the foremast of the leading cruiser flew not the battling sun flag of Japan, but the Stars and Stripes of America.

And there on the long decks of the Houston, officers and crew and Marines stood in rigid lines at salute while from the foremast of Uncle Sam's newest man-o-war flew the sun flag of Japan.

When the Houston and her greenbottl flies—the destroyers with their death sting—returned the salute, our guns barked 17 times in acknowledgment of the Japanese salute, and on the Houston's deck the Filipino band broke out in the solemn strains of the Japanese national anthem.

CHURCHES WIN MOVIE BAN

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 4.—Threatened disruption of the relief work of the city, as a result of the controversy between Mayor Charles B. Mayne and the Protestant churches of the city relative to the former permitting the theaters of the city to stay open last Sunday for the Mayor's relief committee, has been prevented.

Representatives of the public morals committee, which included representatives of the churches and the owners of the theaters have reached an agreement under which the theater owners pledge themselves not to attempt to re-open their theaters on Sundays for commercial or charitable purposes.

Mayor Mayne also announced that no further attempt will be made to operate the theaters. He thanked them for what was done last Sunday and asked the support of the campaign to raise $15,000 for relief. Workers in the campaign made their first report yesterday, having secured a total of $6,211.

4 CLUBS UNDER RUM BAN

Four fraternal and beneficial organizations were named in temporary liquor injunctions granted by Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court today, pending final hearings set for March 11.

The places named were the Moose, owner of club rooms and saloon, McKean avenue, Charleroi; Carl Rocco, steward; Independent Slovak Beneficial Association, saloon and club rear 700 McKean avenue, Charleroi; Joseph Veres, steward; Jugo Slav Educational and Entertaining Home, owner of club in Coverdale, Bethel Township; German Beneficial Union, John Rostek, proprietor, saloon basement 2500 Brownsville road, Carrick.

MRS. JUDD SANE, SAYS DOCTOR

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Dr. J. D. Mauldin, Maricopa County physician, testified at Winnie Ruth Judd's murder trial today the accused woman told him she did not and could not have dismembered the body of one of her victims.

Dr. Mauldin testified he "would say she was sane" on the night of October 16, when the state charges she killed Agnes Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, her friends. Dr. Mauldin, describing a visit to her cell, related:

"I said to her, it seemed a pretty good job—dissecting that body.'"

"She said 'You know, doctor, I didn't do that—I never could cut up even a chicken in my life.'

"'And that trunk—I'm a delicate woman—you can see there was no chance for me to have dragged it through the house.'"

BRUSSELS, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—The Belgian Labor party's central committee today voted a protest against what it termed "Japanese aggression against China and weakness of the League of Nations."

U. S., BRITAIN AGAIN PROTEST TO TOKIO

Use of Neutral Sector for Operations Endangers Citizens, Note Asserts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—A new protest against the use by the Japanese of the International Settlement as a base for their attacks upon the Chinese went to Japan today from the British and American governments.

It closely followed the announcement in Tokio of a Japanese reply to the latest Anglo-American overtures for peace.

The new representations follow the line of others which have contended that the Japanese were using the American Marines in the International Settlement at Shanghai as a shield. They have pointed out that the American Marines were under orders to fire only in most extreme emergencies.

The present fear of officials is that fighting across the line between the Settlement and the native city might result in a serious battle in which innocent neutrals might be killed.

The Japanese reply to the peace proposals was awaited at the State Department as the new protest went forward. It rejects two of the American-British proposals and conditionally accepts three.

Russian Ambassador Takes Up Harbin Crisis

TOKIO, Feb. 4.—(INS.)—A. A. Troyanovsky, Soviet ambassador to Japan, conferred with Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshisawa this afternoon, reportedly to discuss the Harbin situation.

Russia was believed to have been increasingly concerned over recent events in Northern Manchuria, being particularly worried over her interests in the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Japanese influence has steadily been growing in Northern Manchuria, while the Russian influence, which once was predominant, has been diminishing.

ORDER CHINESE OUT OF HARBIN

CHANGCHUN, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Jiro Tamon, the Japanese general, camped with a brigade on the outskirts of Harbin, today sent an ultimatum to Tingchao, the Chinese leader, demanding that he withdraw in the interests of the city's safety.

If he refuses, Tamon planned a general attack for tomorrow morning.

The Japanese brigade went up from Changchun earlier in the week and waited outside Harbin for reinforcements which followed. Another Japanese force which was to have come over from Tsitsihar could not make the advance because Chinese had ripped up the railway tracks at Anta.

The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency correspondent at Harbin said Tingchao's men were beginning to evacuate the city, and it appeared the Japanese would be able to come in without resistance.

American Advice From A Great American

GO TO WAR; AND A SUCCESSFUL WAR ABOUT MANCHURIA WOULD REQUIRE A FLEET AS GOOD AS THAT OF ENGLAND, PLUS AN ARMY AS GOOD AS THAT OF GERMANY.

"THE OPEN DOOR POLICY IN CHINA WAS AN EXCELLENT THING, AND I HOPE IT WILL BE A GOOD THING IN THE FUTURE, SO FAR AS IT CAN BE MAINTAINED BY GENERAL DIPLOMATIC AGREEMENT; BUT, AS HAS BEEN PROVED BY THE WHOLE HISTORY OF MANCHURIA, ALIKE UNDER RUSSIA AND JAPAN, THE OPEN DOOR POLICY, AS A MATTER OF FACT, COMPLETELY DISAPPEARS AS SOON AS A POWERFUL NATION DETERMINES TO DISREGARD IT, AND IS WILLING TO RUN THE RISK OF WAR RATHER THAN FOREGO ITS INTENTION."

THIS was wise and statesmanlike advice from a great American to the government at Washington when Roosevelt gave it.

It is much needed advice to the feeble and fatuous government we have at Washington today.

ENGLAND ENDS FREE TRADE

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the Exchequer, today put an end to 100 years of British free trade by announcing in the House of Commons that the government proposed to levy a 10 per cent duty on almost the entire range of the country's imports.

Exemptions will include wheat, meat, fish of British taking, raw cotton, raw wool and tea.

Also, when there is an existing duty on any article, that article will not be subject to the additional 10 per cent tariff.

WOMAN GASSED BY THIEF TRAP

Enveloped in tear gas, as she opened her dress shop at 6028 Center avenue this morning, Mrs. Lucy DeLuca battled her way to the street. She had forgotten to shut off a burglar alarm when she entered the store. Her brother, Angelo Rose, 17, of 6515 Shetland avenue, who accompanied her, shut off the gas and summoned firemen.

Pedestrians were caught in a cloud of gas that rolled from the store. Firemen ventilated the building.

Mrs. DeLuca said she had often wanted to see how the alarm operated since it was installed after a recent robbery. She said:

"It works, and it works fast."

SETTLE CHECKS SCHOOLEY HELD

Two of the several checks tendered by a realtor to former City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, for delinquent taxes, but never cashed, have been made good, Controller J. P. Kerr announced today. The two are said to amount to several thousand dollars. The total sum involved was $61,000.

A third check is expected to be paid soon, Kerr said. The alleged practice of Schooley in issuing tax receipts on checks that were held indefinitely and listed as cash was one basis for indictments against him and others.

U. S. Fleet Orders 600 Tons of Food

SEATTLE, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—A rush order for 600 tons of supplies for the Asiatic fleet, most of it to be sent directly to Shanghai, was being assembled here and at Spokane today. The shipment will leave for the Orient Saturday.

The consignment will include 200,000 pounds of fresh meats, 100 tons of potatoes, 20,000 pounds of onions, 90,000 pounds of oranges, 20,000 pounds of apples and large lots of butter, eggs, canned goods and "dry" food products.

Britain Withholds Embargo on Arms

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(INS.)—Great Britain will not declare an embargo on arms shipments to Japan and China for the present, Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Runciman revealed that both Japan and China had made large purchases of arms and ammunition in Great Britain during 1931.

Shots Strike International Sector; Battle Rages Along Extensive Front

o'clock last night, with the Chinese still in control of the forts. They repeated their claim that they had sunk a Japanese destroyer Wednesday and said foreign military observers had verified their claim. In yesterday's action, the Chinese said, they disabled another destroyer so she had to be beached, but later was refloated and withdrawn.

The Japanese, not bothering to deny the Chinese claims, contented themselves with reporting that the forts had been shot to pieces.

The firing beat a tattoo for the landing of a fresh group of more than 300 United States Marines from the cruiser Houston, which arrived from Manila yesterday. The Leathernecks took it in fine humor, asking "where's the war?" as the boom of the warships' guns down the river and the rattle of the lighter, sharper fire in the city smote their ears.

The Marines were marched to the International Settlement, where they will take up posts to protect American lives and property. "Ain't that music?" shouted another Marine as they were stepping off the distance to the Settlement from the wharf.

JAPANESE SURPRISED

The Chinese resistance in the Chapei sector surprised the Japanese, who had detailed plans for a new attack with shock troops and artillery and aerial bombs.

Only machine guns and rifles were used in stemming the Japanese tide during the afternoon, but the Chinese trench mortars dropped several shells around the Japanese headquarters in the International Settlement.

At the Japanese headquarters the staff was busy directing intricate street fighting in the city and synchronizing by radio the attacks by the airplane bombers.

As the correspondent's car drew up in front of the headquarters an officer pointed out stains on the pavement where sentries were killed by exploding Chinese shells and suggested the exercise of care.

The next attack, which Japanese hoped would end in clearing out all the Chinese from North Chapei, was to sweep the Chinese positions with machine guns and three-inch artillery, after which the bluejackets would hurriedly withdraw while the bombing planes swooped down and dumped their explosive cargoes on the buildings held by the Chinese. After this the bluejackets were to rush in again in an attempt to gain a few yards during the confusion that was expected to result.

ADVANCE SLIGHT

After hours of heavy and persistent fighting earlier in the day, the Japanese admitted they had "gained only a little." They hoped the combined artillery and aerial attacks would flatten out the congested area in Chapei, permit more open fighting and make possible a more rapid advance.

The naval forces bombarding Woodsung blew out the Commercial Cable head, leaving radio and the Great Northern cable as the only means of communication with the outside world.

The Japanese naval commander apologized to the British and American consuls for destruction of the cable head and promised to provide a guard for the repair crew.

FLAMES SPREAD

The flames were spreading rapidly in the Chinese area, where flimsy huts were set afire by incendiary bombs from Japanese airplanes.

The United States Marines had their hands full in the Soochow Creek area, where thousands of Chinese refugees are clamored at the bridge gates vainly trying to enter the Settlement. They were letting in only holders of authorized passes, for it was estimated that already nearly a million refugees are camped in the city.

The new detachment of Marines which came ashore from the cruiser Houston spent most of the morning settling in their billets. For them Shanghai was a cold city after months of Manila sunshine. The boys put away their tropical uniforms and put on their long winter underwear.

Suicide of Japanese Admiral Denied

Fight on Tokio Envoy Fails at Geneva

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—The world disarmament conference experienced and settled its first fight today.

The clash developed over an effort of Dr. Salvador De Madariaga, Spanish delegate, to prevent the Japanese from securing one of the 14 vice presidencies of the conference.

Apparently intent on punishing Japan for her hostile activities in China, Dr. De Madariaga, former minister to Washington, had urged the blackballing of Isuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to London, who was proposed for one of the vice presidential posts.

Dr. De Madariaga had hinted he had the support of the American delegation and Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium and member of the American delegation, made a public visit to Ambassador Matsudaira to assure him there was no effort by the American delegation to deprive him of his seat.

Meanwhile the conference steering committee settled the matter by ruling that its nomination of 14 vice presidents must be accepted or rejected in its entirety and that a vote would be taken this afternoon.

World War Vets Jeer Call To Join Army Reserve

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(INS.)—There ain't gonna be no war if Hornell veterans of the great war can help it. Their response to a request that they enroll for emergency service, given to 200 of them assembled in the state armory last night, was a chorus of boos and catcalls from all but 12.

The meeting was called by Maj. Gen. William N. Haskell, commanding the 27th Division, to organize a reserve platoon at Hornell. The 12 who volunteered were jeered by the others for five minutes so loudly that the speaker, Capt. A. B. Conover, commander of the Hornell National Guard unit, was drowned out. The veterans yelled:

"We're older and have more sense. We'll fight when we're attacked—and not before."

CAPITAL AWAITS REACTION TO DAVIS ANTI-DRY STAND

12 MEN KILLED BY BLAST ON OIL TANKER

Woman Among Five Hurt As Explosion Wrecks Ship At Pier; Trapped in Sleep

MARCUS HOOK, Pa., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Twelve men are known to have been killed, three others are believed to be dead, a number are missing, and a woman and four men were injured when four terrific explosions wrecked the motor tankship Bidwell early today.

The explosions occurred at a pier at the foot of Market street here, where the vessel, owned by the Sun Oil Company, and chartered to the Sinclair Oil Company, had removed a cargo of gasoline yesterday.

Those missing are believed to have been trapped in the hold of the fire-swept ship, or to have drowned when they were hurled or leaped overboard to escape the flames which followed the blasts.

Six of the dead, charred so badly the identification of some may be impossible, were found by a searching party which combed the upper decks of the ship today. One body was found in the captain's cabin.

A statement issued by the Sun Oil Company said every effort was being made to check up on all missing persons. The statement added the company had been unable to ascertain the cause of the explosion. The Bidwell had a crew of 37. Most of them were asleep and 15 were cleaning a hold when the first blast occurred. The tanker came here Monday from Smiths Bluff, Tex.

WARM JANUARY RIVALS RECORD

With a single exception, January was the warmest in the 60 years records have been kept by the Pittsburgh Weather Bureau, the monthly comparative summary discloses. The average temperature was 42 degrees.

The exception was the first month of 1880, when the mean temperature was 44 degrees. The only other January which exceeded 40 was in 1890, when the average was 41. The normal average for the month is 30.5 degrees.

Every day was above normal except the 10th and the 31st.

Precipitation also was above normal, with a total of 4.8 inches, mostly rain. Only five other Januaries top this mark in 60 years. There were 23 days on which rain or snow fell.

Prince Must Pay For Stolen Rug

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Serge Mdivani, titled husband of Mary McCormic, opera singer, and former husband of Poli Negri, the actress, must pay Morton Kaye, Los Angeles businessman, $6,000 for a rug stolen from the house the Mdivanis had leased for their honeymoon.

The rug was a part of $50,000 worth of furnishings and clothing, which included four fur coats belonging to Miss McCormic, taken from the home.

Movie Actor Held After 'Wild Party'

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Eddie Gribbon, film comedian, and his wife, Loreta, were arrested yesterday by police on charges of liquor law violations.

Police went to the Gribbon home on complaints of a "wild party." They said Gribbon invited them in and they found a quantity of beer and other liquors. The two were released on $650 bail pending arraignment.

5 WILMERDING MEN GET TERMS

Sentences of from one and a half to three years in jail were imposed upon two members of the election board of the Fourth District of Wilmerding when they were arraigned before Judge Elder W. Marshall, presiding in Criminal Court. Carmine Trenga and Carmine Marchiano were ordered to pay 6¼ cents each, the costs of the prosecution and serve from one and a half to three years in jail.

Louis Botti, Joseph Fillia and Frank M. Cortazzo were ordered to pay the costs and a similar fine and serve from three months to one year in jail. Peter Grillo and Paul Dagello were paroled for one year each.

In paroling Grillo and Dagello, both overseers, Judge Marshall said:

"The evidence shows pure neglect on your part. You both are ignorant and dumb and were not fit to serve on any election board. I believe that you did not know that you were doing and so I parole you for one year."

The members of the board last week had pleaded guilty.

Five members of the board of the First District of Forward Township also appeared before Judge Marshall. They pleaded guilty to violating the election laws. They are to be sentenced later.

Policeman Traps 2 In Theft, Kills One

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—(INS.)—A gun battle waged early to day between a patrolman and two men he surprised robbing a restaurant ended with one man dead and the patrolman in the hospital, a bullet through his cheek.

The dead man was identified as Richard Campbell, 28, who fell before a bullet from the gun of Patrolman Andrew Larson.

Weather Conditions.

The centers of low pressure, located over the southern plains yesterday morning, developed into a single center over Ohio and Indiana, with increased intensity. The disturbance produced precipitation over most of the eastern half of the country during yesterday and last night, rain east of the Mississippi and snow over the eastern plains states. The rainfall was moderately heavy over portions of the Ohio Valley states. Another low appears over Southern Alberta and a high pressure area includes the central and Southern Rocky Mountain states and the southern plains.

Due to the pressure development in the East, the cold weather of the West did not advance much farther eastward, but spread southward over the plains states and the Lower Mississippi Valley states. There will be a change to much colder weather over this section following the rain tonight, but no low temperatures are indicated.

Senate Quiz Begins In 16 to 1 Silver

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—A Senate finance sub-committee was appointed today to hold hearings on the Wheeler bill calling for the coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 with gold.

2 DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN FALL DEAD

Party's Lead in House Cut To Three; One Stricken In Hotel While Shaving

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Representatives Percy Quin, of Mississippi, and Samuel Rutherford, of Georgia, died within less than an hour of each other today of heart attacks.

Quin, a veteran of almost 20 years' service in the House, had been ill for more than a month. Rutherford fell dead while shaving at his hotel. He had been a member since 1925.

Both were Democrats. Their deaths, the first since Huey Long, of Louisiana, took his oath of office a week ago to give Congress its full membership for the first time this season, brought the present House standing to: Democrats, 218; Republicans, 214; Farmer-Labor, one, and three vacancies.

Quin was chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee. He had been a student of the Muscle Shoals problem. He was conducting a hearing to formulate a bill for the disposal of the huge government properties when he became ill about a month ago, and was removed to Naval Hospital, where he had been since.

Rutherford had been in apparent good health. He was shaving when stricken.

THRONGS FLEE QUAKE ZONE

Nine persons were known dead and approximately 1,000 of the 70,000 population were treated for major or minor injuries. The damage was officially estimated in excess of $10,000,000 by officials who surveyed the ruins left by one of the most destructive earthquakes to strike the city in 400 years.

The exodus of residents to the high hills that surround Santiago on three sides was in strange contrast to the flight of hundreds yesterday to the central plaza, where frenzied invocations were made to the patron saint of Cuba for protection against the earthquakes.

Relief organizations continued their well organized work today and aid was promised from the vessels of the United States scouting fleet based at Guantanamo Bay.

4 Children Hurt In Crash of Bus

Hunt for 'Hidden Hand' in Prosecution Of Brother Fails as 'Deb' Again Withstands Defense Grilling

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—An effort to find a "hidden hand" in the trial of Edward H. B. Allen, charged with the murder of Francis Donaldson III, failed when Rose Allen, 18, sister of the defendant and fiance of his victim, again took the witness stand today.

After a long argument between counsel, she was permitted to tell who employed Elmer A. Schroeder, of Philadelphia, as her private counsel. Her reply was that she had engaged him herself.

William T. Connor, in arguing that she be returned to the stand so he could find out who influenced her in retaining counsel, declared she was biased and added:

"There is a great feeling exhibited by this girl against her brother. It is induced by what she claims was a wrong done her.

"This girl lied to her father when she said she was going out the night before the killing. She lied to your honor while on the stand that there was a gun in the locker downstairs of the hotel. We will show she made an entirely different statement to the police about the gun and the threat. There was an unseen hand which provided her with counsel."

GRILLED ON STATEMENT

Miss Allen was asked whether she had told Leighton Stradley that Donaldson had insulted her mother and other members of the Allen family in 1930. Rose replied she had not put it that way; that she said Donaldson had patted her mother on the back and she took offense at it.

REPLIES STRAINED

After her direct testimony yesterday, Miss Allen was cross-examined by Connor. When he sought to bring out that Eddie's full conversation with her at the time of the alleged threat included a remonstrance against her rude treatment of her "poor old father" after he had found Donaldson in her bedroom a few days before the shooting, she replied:

"I don't remember."

To other questions she gave strained replies, often after a full minute or so or rumination. A typical example came when Connor insisted:

"But your father did find you and Donaldson in your room at 2 o'clock in the morning, didn't he?"

"No—it wasn't. It was 1:20."

Miss Allen was dressed in the same black clothes she wore on the witness stand yesterday. Her mouth moved nervously as she sat rigidly in the witness chair while Connor and District Attorney Stewart Nase wrangled over the written statement, which Connor charged Nase was withholding from the jury.

SUICIDE'S WIFE ENDS LIFE

Mrs. Laura Shafer, 38, of the fashionable Highwood Apartments, South Highland avenue and Elwood street, followed her husband in death today, a suicide, police say.

A year ago the husband, Myron Shafer, an accountant, ended his life by shooting at their Browning road home in the exclusive Highland Park district, according to police records.

This morning police received a call from the Physicians' Exchange that a woman had committed suicide in the Highwood Apartments. They found Mrs. Shafer near death in the bathroom of her suite. She told them she had swallowed poison, they reported. She died 20 minutes later in the Pittsburgh Hospital.

An adopted daughter, Helen, 10, was at a private girls' school in East Liberty at the time.

Cashier at Erie Get 3-Year Term

City Valuations Exceed Billion

Valuations of land and buildings assessed for city taxes for 1932 were announced today by Chief City Assessor Thomas McMahon. Totaling $1,208,266,120, the assessment includes $586,692,810 for land and $621,573,310 for buildings.

U. S. Ensign Drowns In Plane Collision

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(INS.)—Naval Ensign Philip E. Parks, an aviator, was drowned in Guantanamo Bay today as a result of a collision between a boat and a seaplane, according to a dispatch to the Navy Department.

SENATOR URGES BEER, WINE AT ONCE

Decision Believed to Mean Entry of Dry in Race, But Assures Support of Vare

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—After casting his lot definitely with those who are demanding a resubmission of the prohibition question to the several states, Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, today was awaiting the reaction from the state to his announcement that he will be a candidate to succeed himself.

Ending the long speculation that has existed over the stand he would take on prohibition, Senator Davis not only came forward with an outright declaration in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but, pending the resubmission of the amendment, he urged modification of the Volstead act to permit manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

In some quarters the statement of the Pennsylvania Senator was taken to mean that he will receive the active support of the powerful organization of William S. Vare, in Philadelphia.

DRY MAY RUN

At the same time it was looked upon as making certain the entry of a leading dry in the campaign against him. Both Gov. Gifford Pinchot and Representative Louis T. McFadden, of the Fifteenth Pennsylvania District, have been mentioned as possible dry candidates for the senatorial nomination.

Previous to the Davis statement, issued here last night, Representative James M. Beck, of Philadelphia, had announced that the Vare organization, predominantly anti-dry, would not support a dry candidate for the Senate. The rather blunt intimation was made that unless Senator Davis committed himself to the wet side of the issue, the Philadelphia organization would put out a candidate against him.

Senator Davis pointed out that he had favored submission of the prohibition question to the states when the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted by Congress originally, and since that time had accepted the program of national enforcement in the hope that it would result in lasting benefits to the American people.

He based his changed attitude on the findings of the Wickersham Commission, calling attention to a statement he made in his past campaign in which he said he reserved final judgment on prohibition until the commission filed its report.

RESULTS NOT OBTAINED

After making a "careful study of the report," Senator Davis said he "regretfully reached the conclusion that the results hoped for under the program of national prohibition had not materialized."

In addition to prohibition, the Pennsylvania Senator touched on the tariff and declared himself vigorously against any lowering of the present schedules.

"When the proposal to enact the Eighteenth Amendment was before Congress, I favored submission of the question to the people for their decision, as provided in the Constitution. After the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment and the enactment of the Volstead Act, I accepted the program of national prohibition with the sincere hope that its results would prove of lasting benefit to the American people.

Davis Urges Beer, Wine

"Two years ago when I was a candidate for United States Senator, I stated that I would stand on the principles of the Republican platform on the general policy of law enforcement, but on the question of national prohibition would await the findings of the Wickersham Commission, a non-partisan body appointed by the President for the expressed purpose of making an impartial and comprehensive investigation of the whole subject of the prohibition law and its enforcement.

"When the Wickersham Commission filed its report I read it in the hope that the facts therein disclosed would demonstrate that the policy of national prohibition was a solution to this age-old problem of dealing with intoxicating beverages.

"After a careful study of the report, I regretfully reached the conclusion that the results hoped for under the program of national prohibition had not materialized and that while it abolished the open saloon, national prohibition had brought unsatisfactory conditions which had not existed before its enactment and aggravated others already existing.

"I find I do not stand alone in these conclusions. They are shared by others. The American Bar Association, the American Medical Association, the American Legion, the American Federation of Labor and many other organizations have expressed these conclusions in formal resolutions. Some of our greatest leaders of public thought, including the late, lamented Dwight W. Morrow, have expressed similar views.

"The people of the different states hold varying views on this question. I believe the great majority in every state desire temperate, orderly living. In a free government the people are the ultimate judges of governmental policies. I favor the resubmission of this entire question to the people of the states as above outlined.

FOR BEER, WINE

"While it is fundamental that the Constitution be amended, this will require much time. Therefore, while the change is being made, I believe there should be such a modification in the Volstead law as will permit the regulated use of beer and light wines, not intoxicating in fact. Such a program in my judgment would promote true temperance, which is desired by the great majority of people, be they classified as wet or dry. My real desire is to promote the cause of true temperance.

"The evils of the excessive use of hard liquor were deeply impressed on me in my youth by the old-time temperance lecturer. I regret his passing.

"In the frugal homes of temperate and happy people where I spent the days of my youth in Pennsylvania, there was on the family table a loaf of bread, a piece of cheese and a glass of beer.

"It is my belief that the regulated use of beer and light wine, not intoxicating in fact, would eliminate many of the present evils brought on by the unlawful liquor traffic and would also be a source of revenue sorely needed at this time."

UTILITY VALUE HIT AT HEARING

Present fair value of the properties of the Solar Electric Company of Brookville, Pa., has been placed at $101,070, less than one-half the amount which the company will contend is the proper valuation, by D. E. Davis, consulting engineer, testifying before the Public Service Commission in behalf of citizens of Brookville objecting to electric rates there.

David I. McCahill, counsel for the electric company, sought to have Davis' testimony ruled out on the ground of inexperience with electric plants. Failing in that, McCahill tried to show errors in Davis' valuation.

A fair value of the company's properties, according to McCahill, is around $225,000. The average rate for domestic use in Brookville is around 5 cents per kilowatt hour, McCahill said.

VICTIM OF DRY TRAP FINED $1

Raymond Cresswell, of Vintondale, Cambria County, was fined $1 and costs by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson when he pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition law. The court declared it looked like a case of entrapment.

It was testified that a prohibition agent and an "informer" went to the home of Cresswell and the companion of the agent who knew Cresswell said they wanted some liquor to take to a party. They had two girls with them, it was testified.

Cresswell sold them two pints of liquor and was arrested.

80 Per Cent of Autos Tested Need Repairs

More than 80 per cent of the automobiles officially inspected under the mandatory inspection law during the first three weeks of the period, required repairs or adjustments, according to figures compiled by the Pittsburgh Motor Club. All cars must be approved by March 31.

The estimated cost of such inspections by official garages is placed at $3,300,000 in the state of which motorists of Allegheny County will pay around $463,285. The average cost to each car owner thus far has been $2.25 including 50 cents for inspection and $1.75 for adjustments.

PLANE HUNTERS RACE STORM

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Still struggling to clear away deep snowdrifts and chilled by severe cold, rescue parties increased their efforts to beat out the threat of a new storm, whirling down from the Alaskan gulf.

Two airplanes and nine persons were still missing, a Century-Pacific air liner which vanished with eight persons Friday and Lieut. A. D. Hoffman and his Army plane, which disappeared in a storm Monday.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—An abandoned airplane found upside down on the beach here today was believed for a time to have been that in which Pilot Val Chick and four passengers disappeared between Miami and Bimini, Bahamas, Monday, but an investigation by Sheriff R. C. Baker led him to believe it was a rum-carrier. The plane is in good condition, except that glass in the cabin has been shattered.

MINERS' HEADS PAY CUT BEATEN

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Attempts to reduce salaries of its international officers were defeated yesterday by the biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America.

Arguments that salaries of the officers were disproportionate were met with a statement by P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, Pittsburgh, that the union "should not be in favor of wage reductions either for the miners or for their officials."

Adjournment of the convention by tonight was predicted by John L. Lewis, international president. The report of the scale committee, charged with formulating a wage and working policy for the bituminous field, remained to be considered.

South Main Street Closes Tomorrow

South Main street, between Carson and Alexander streets, will be closed tomorrow for a two-week period for construction of approaches to the new West End-North Side Bridge. West End motorists are advised by city and county officials to detour by way of Alexander, to Steuben, to Carson street, inbound. The reverse is to be followed by outbound traffic.

FINED FOR RUM, HELD IN THEFT

John Seaman, 24, of Bon Vue avenue, had a busy time yesterday. He appeared before Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, pleaded guilty of violating the prohibition law and was fined $100 and placed upon probation for one year.

When he left the courtroom a subpena was served upon him directing that he appear as a government witness in a narcotic case.

A few minutes later a city detective informed him he was wanted on a larceny charge. Seaman furnished $1,000 bond for his appearance before Police Magistrate Leo Rothenberg.

The federal information to which he pleaded gave his name as "John Sullivan," but Seaman corrected the error by signing his correct name. The information charged sale and possession of contraband liquor.

W. Va. Cloudburst Floods 2 Villages

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 4.—A cloudburst over the headwaters of the Tygart river in Randolph county which caused the river to overflow, drove 50 residents from their homes. Parts of Thomas and Porterwood were inundated. A landslide moved 600 feet of Western Maryland railroad tracks into the Black fork branch of Cheat river, near Hendricks, carried down telephone and telegraph lines and blocked traffic on roads.

YOUTH HOLDS UP SWISSVALE CAR

Braddock police and detectives today were searching for a young gunman with a blackened face who held up a Swissvale street car and robbed the motorman, M. Ball, of North Braddock, of his receipts, $20, last night.

The holdup occurred at Thirteenth and Talbot streets, Braddock, the end of the run. There were no passengers in the car. The youth boarded the car, pressed his gun against the trainman and demanded his money.

The masked thug who last night knocked Mary Lucas, 17, of Braddock Park, to the ground and fled after taking 25 cents from her pocketbook, was being sought by county detectives today. The girl was accosted near her home.

Detectives said the man escaped from her brothers, Michael and Anthony, who gave chase when they heard their sister's screams. Anthony Lucas told police he chased the man to Rankin, where he escaped after hurling a brick at the brother.

Raymond Minor

Condellsville, Pa.—"I was always sickly, had no children and suffered periodically. Finally my father brought home a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for me," said Mrs. Frances Minor, Route 1, Box 44. "Now I have four children, all healthy. I always used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during expectancy. I think every prospective mother should use it as it prepares one for the ordeal and makes her stronger afterwards." Check Suspect Held, Accuses Detectives

Howard Ramsey, 50, of Conway, Pa., was held for investigation today after detectives testified he issued worthless checks in Pittsburgh amounting to $48 and $98 in Ambridge.

Ramsey, carrying a deputy sheriff's badge, said he formerly held that position. A United States Secret Service badge was "planted" on him by Detectives Charles Dye and Harry Foster, he charged.

ATWATER KENT RADIO! NEWS

ATWATER KENT ADDS STARTLING IMPROVEMENT

Neon Light Tells When Your Station Is Correctly Tuned!

AUTOMATICALLY ASSURES BEST TONE ON EACH PROGRAM

The Neon light is automatic, infallible, instantaneous. Its bright signal tells your eyes that your Atwater Kent is accurately tuned.

Watch the light and get the station you want, in absolute silence! Then turn up the volume and hear your station at the very PEAK of TONE.

You will find this new aid to radio enjoyment on the new Atwater Kent Console models 99 and 96, lowboy or highboy. See them at once.

You will realize at a flash that this is a major refinement in radio reception—another convincing reason for owning an Atwater Kent.

NEON TUNING LIGHT
ON ALL NEW ATWATER KENTS PRICED AT $89 to $122

As you dial to station, a column of light rises in Neon tube (like a thermometer). When light reaches highest point in the tube, your set is perfectly tuned.

GET ALL THIS, TOO

Every A. C. model—even the smallest Compact—has four-gang condenser, usually found only in most expensive sets . . . 7, 8 or 10 tubes—each model most powerful in its field . . . pentode and variable-mu tubes—each one doing its full job.

Automatic Volume Control on most models . . . tone control and static reducer . . . sensitivity switch assures maximum reception on both nearby and distant stations . . . super-heterodyne . . . Quick-Vision Dial . . . velvet-action station selector . . . improved Golden Voice electro-dynamic speaker . . . genuine American walnut cabinets . . . nothing cheap or "faddy," but designed for long-time home satisfaction. New Low Prices.

Have a thorough test—without obligation. Try that new Neon Tuning Light!

FOR YOUR CAR—New Atwater Kent Motor Car Radio . . . rugged, vibration-proof, powerful, sensitive . . . quickly installed without mutilating car.

CLASE OF COUNTY PORT FOUGHT BY JA AERO CLUB

Former Director Leads Discussion, Which Scores Policy of Commissioners

The Aero Club today voted to oppose leasing the new county $5,000,000 airport to a private corporation. The discussion was led by Carl W. Forcier, recently dropped as manager. Halsey R. Bazley, new director of the port, refused to enter the discussion.

Augustus Haller, pioneer manufacturer of sail planes, said:

"When the bond issue was there was no mention of such contemplated leasing nor did the public believe such would occur. Had there been, you may be sure that no bond issue would have passed. Leasing it now would be as ridiculous as leasing Smithfield street or the Liberty tunnel to private enterprises, so they would be toll ways.

BIG SUM NEEDED

Forcier said $400,000 would be required to complete and maintain the port this year and the maximum revenue would amount to $50,000. D. Burt Peet, founder of Bettis Airport, scored Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, saying last summer he opposed the leasing.

A resolution adopted by the board of governors and approved by the club outlined a plan of management and urged the appointment of an advisory board.

REVENUES $75.83

The airport has brought in $75.83 in revenues during the first five months of operation, it was revealed today in a report of airport activities received and filed by County Commissioners.

The report, submitted by Carl W. Forcier, retiring airport manager, itemized the revenues as follows:

Ten per cent commission on refreshment concession—83 cents.

HIT BY AUTOS, TWO DIE

Alice Pickard, 7, of 252 Steuben street, Crafton, died last night of injuries suffered when she was struck yesterday by an automobile driven by Mrs. D. T. Felix, of 1132 Princeton avenue, Thornburg, near the child's home, according to a Coroner's report. Mrs. Felix, in an effort to escape striking the child, police said, swerved her car into a pole and was slightly hurt.

R. F. Warner, of Tarentum, posted bond at the Coroner's office today, pending an inquest into the death of Palemeria Serzesti, 55, of Creighton, who was struck by an automobile alleged to have been driven by Warner, at the West New Kensington end of the New Kensington Bridge last night. Warner took the woman to the Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington, where she was pronounced dead. Notified of her death, Warner collapsed.

Held in Attempt To Prevent Arrest

George McKee, 29, of 2119 Eggers street, was arrested early today at Pennsylvania and Irwin avenues when police say, he represented himself as an officer in an attempt to free his companion, Harold Beymer, of 1920 St. Ives street, while the latter was being arrested on a drunkeness charge.

Later police raided the store of Morris Cohen, 829 Pennsylvania avenue, and seized a quantity of moonshine, they reported. The raid was made after McKee and Beymer informed police they had purchased liquor there.

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement will be thrown open Monday to provide recreational facilities for the Hill district unemployed, Sidney A. Teller, executive director of the settlement, announced last night. The plan will operate in co-operation with the Allegheny County Emergency Association.

Swissvale Woman Honored at Meet

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—(INS.)—Mrs. Ida Wallace, Swissvale, was elected first vice president of the Pennsylvania School Directors Association today. C. K. Patterson, of Turtle Creek, was elected a director. Congressman Clyde Kelly, speaker, blamed "cut throat competition" for the nation's economic and social ills.

Gen. Malone to Meet Fellow Heroes Here

Three men who won fame in the attack on Vaux Hill No. 204, July 1, 1918, will meet here for the first time since the battle next Wednesday. Maj. John H. Shenkel, clerk in Criminal Court, and Capt. Cedric C. Benz, county prohibition agent, will greet Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area. He will be here two days inspecting reserve units of the 99th Division. He will speak Wednesday noon before the American Legion, and in the evening at Carnegie Lecture Hall.

Stricken in Pulpit, Preacher Falls Dead

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Reaching the peroration of a sermon on "Christian Unity," Dr. James M. Philputt, former pastor of churches in New York and St. Louis, died of a heart attack in the pulpit of the First Christian Church here last night. A congregation of nearly 200 saw him fall.

ROBBERS FLEE POLICE SHOTS

One of five bullets fired by Patrolman Michael Cahill was believed to have struck one of four youths whom the officer said he surprised in an attempt to force entry to the Army and Navy store, 6258 Frankstown avenue, early today.

Film Actress Plans Beauty Operation

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Plastic surgery will be used to aid her return to the screen, Juanita Hansen, New York stage actress and former motion picture player, said here. Miss Hansen recently received $118,000 damages for burns received in a New York hotel, she said.

"I have already made arrangements with a prominent plastic surgeon to remove scar tissue from my face and arms."

AUTOISTS FREE IN DEATH CASES

Two men were free today of involuntary manslaughter charges in Criminal Court, one having been declared not guilty by a jury, while the case against the other was nol prossed because the only witness could not be found.

Alderich Kaelin, 45, of Oakmont, was acquitted when tried for the death of Philip Mara, 68, of Swissvale, killed by Kaelin's automobile in Woodstock avenue September 10. Kaelin denied exceeding the speed limit and said Mara was crossing the street near the middle of the block.

The indictment against William E. Byers, 22, of Imperial, was nol prossed by Judge Samuel H. Gardner at the request of the District Attorney, who said the case had been listed twice for trial and postponed because the only eye witness, H. R. Smith, formerly of 6015 Hoeveler street, could not be located.

Byers was charged with being the driver of an automobile which killed William C. Barto, 5705 Rural avenue, in Lincoln highway, near Imperial, August 20.

JAIL LUXURIES FOR COAL GROUP

UNIONTOWN, Feb. 4.—Eight former coal and iron policemen and deputy sheriffs and a former mine superintendent of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, back in the Fayette County Jail today on murder charges, were enjoying the privileges of luxury prisoners.

They were told by the coal company to order anything they wanted. Their meals are brought in from a downtown restaurant. Tobacco, newspapers and such are theirs for the asking.

Held in connection with the shooting of Mike Philopovich during mine strike disorders at Arnold City last summer, they were refused bail yesterday by Judge Davis W. Henderson on their habeas corpus writ.

Witnesses testified that one, John D. Yoder, coal and iron policeman, emptied a revolver, then fired a shotgun into a crowd, hitting Philopovich. Other defendants are Ernest Barnes, former mine superintendent; James D. Buttermore, Donald Roynton, John W. Fisher, Leroy Ingram, O. P. Claybaugh, James B. Sisley and Ted Hunt.

St. Vincent's Abbey Willed Two Lots

St. Vincent's Abbey, Latrobe, is given two lots on Florida avenue, Mt. Lebanon, to devote the income to education of young men for the priesthood, by the will of Joseph A. Simonton, of Fortieth street, disposing of an estate estimated at $32,700.

A sister, Ida V. Simonton, is given all moneys "loaned her, before and since her exploring in Africa." The remainder is left to a sister, Emma Simonton Berger, for life, and then to St. Paul's Orphanage, Pittsburgh, and St. Mary's Catholic Church, St. Petersburg, Fla.

The $25,000 estate of Verner S. Gaggin, of 5445 Center avenue, was left to his wife, Helen W. Gaggin.

DIVERS REACH SUNKEN SUB

PORTLAND, England, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Divers today were examining the wreck of the British submarine M-2 which sank January 26 off the coast here and which was definitely located on the bottom of the Channel late last night by sub-sea soundings.

Admiralty officials said it was unlikely that the hull of the submarine, which went down with 61 men aboard, would be salvaged before next summer. Westerly winds in the channel would be almost certain to interrupt the salvage work if it were begun now, they said.

PENN AVENUE CLUB RAIDED

Drew H. Snavely was reported arrested last night by prohibition agents who said they raided the Sleepy Hollow Club on the second floor at 6109 Penn avenue. Gin, beer, rum and whisky were seized, the agents reported.

Joseph Baretti and Peter Boni were arrested on the Baretti farm, Baldwin Township, agents said, in a raid which netted a still and a quantity of moonshine. During the raid, a truck loaded with corn sugar drove into the yard and Henry Tonti and Nick Romeo were arrested after the sugar was seized.

Other places raided included 129 River road, Whitaker, Sam Dinatche and Emmeline Barclay arrested; Warrendale saloon, Mrs. Mary Potts, Felix Bayley and Mary Clark arrested, and a place at 16 West Lacock street, where the suspected owner escaped.

Lindbergh at Work On 30th Birthday

He planned to spend the day, as usual, at his office, and in conference in connection with his duties as an aeronautical consultant for an aviation company.

BOYS TRAPPED IN STORE HELD

Two boys, discovered at 1:30 a. m. on the seventh floor of McCreery's department store, were held for court after they admitted in Morals Court today they had intended to steal clothes.

In several boxes they had five suits of clothes, four hats, two pair of shoes, a scarf and a pair of spats when found by the night watchman.

John Gnipp, 17, of Woodland terrace, said he needed the clothes to look "decent" when he returns to Perry High School for a post-graduate course. For the last two years, he said, he had attended Western Kentucky State Teachers' College.

William Fota, 18, of Mattern street, corroborated Gnipp's story that they had hidden in a washroom at closing time yesterday.

Ex-Officer's Wife Ill, Police Rush Aid

A patrol crew of Mt. Washington police carried oxygen early today in an effort to save the life of Mrs. John P. Clancey, wife of the former police inspector, who is critically ill in her home, 2929 Knowlson avenue, with pneumonia. Several trips to the United States Bureau of Mines for additional oxygen tanks were made by the police crew.

SWIM TEACHING PROBE DELAYED

Investigation of charges by the Allegheny County Civic Club that swimming instructors who could not swim were hired by the City Bureau of Recreation will not be made until spring, Public Works Director Edward G. Lang disclosed today.

All city swimming pools under supervision of the Bureau of Recreation except the Oliver indoor pool are now closed, Lang said.

"J. J. Isherwood, in charge of swimming personnel; Recreation Superintendent W. H. Batchelor, and myself, will take precautions to see that no one is accepted as swimming teacher unless he is absolutely fit. Each applicant will be required to demonstrate his ability."

Asked whether he had found evidences of failure of recreational employes to give full time to their duties, as charged by the Civic Club, Lang asserted:

"I found one instance some time ago, and I discharged that person immediately."

THREE PUPILS WIN AWARDS

Three Homestead High School graduates, winners in the examination sponsored by the Exceptional Youth committee of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, were awarded scholarships to the University of Pittsburgh by the Buhl Foundation on the recommendation of the Civic Club, D. H. Conner, principal of the school, announced.

Paul Jones, first place winner of Allegheny County, had already received scholarship to the University of Pittsburgh, but the Buhl Foundation will pay the other half of his tuition. The two other winners were Ruth Lazirowits and Delores Thompson.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food don't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

3 GUILTY IN HILL DOPE TRAFFIC

James Lancia, 34, of Bedford avenue, a Hill politician; Salvatore Corsello, 46, of Suismon street, and Joe Lacastro, 45, of Bustrick way, were convicted yesterday in Federal Court of conspiring to violate the government narcotic law. Defense counsel announced a motion will be made for a new trial.

Federal narcotic agents and other government witnesses testified in the trial before Judge Nelson McVicar, involving the three defendants in drug traffic in the Hill district and North Side. Assistant United States Attorney Zeno Fritz represented the government in prosecution.

The same three defendants will face trial on another indictment charging violations of the narcotic law, it was said.

Andrew Sweet, 50, of Fernando street, was sentenced by Judge R. M. Gibson to 18 months in the penitentiary for violating the narcotic law. He pleaded guilty of selling 1,700 grains of gum opium on December 7, 1931.

JAILED 30 DAYS AFTER 2 RAIDS

When Ralph E. Hallan appeared yesterday before Federal Judge R. M. Gibson and pleaded guilty to sale and possession of liquor and of maintaining "The Lantern," Snee road, Jefferson Township, as a common nuisance, November 12, 1931, the court was informed that prohibition agents again raided the place Tuesday night and found Hallan behind the bar.

Hallan told the court that he was no longer connected with the place and was behind the bar to get a newspaper. The court expressed its doubt as to the truthfulness of the defendant and sentenced him to serve 30 days in jail. Afterwards Hallan had a hearing before the United States Commissioner on a charge of unlawful possession of liquor, which grew out of the Tuesday night raid.

Joseph J. Burton, a codefendant with Hallan in the case before the court, was placed on probation for 18 months.

Ready-Made Style Creations For Actresses Is New Studio Idea

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4.

Every day Hollywood is becoming more practical. The latest reform is aimed against designing special gowns for pictures.

Mrs. Brock Pemberton, newly appointed head of the R-K-O wardrobe department, is the leader of the movement. Instead of having creations made up from sketches, she plans to buy original models from the New York and local shops.

Some of the most fashionable establishments in the country have agreed to submit gowns on approval and to hold them exclusive until the studio has had first call. New York shops will send their richest creations airmail to Hollywood.

Ann Harding

For four years a costumer for a New York department store, Mrs. Pemberton already has tried out this plan at the eastern studios. She says:

"I shall have a designer, of course, but, in most cases, it is highly unsatisfactory to choose gowns from sketches. They look so different when they are made up. Under my plan, the star will have the finished garment and will require only one fitting. This will save them a lot of inconvenience, and the gowns will be just as smart as if we had made them up ourselves."

The new system will be tried out on Ann Harding's picture, "Westward Passage," and later on Connie Bennett's, "A Free Lady."

GOSSIP OF CELEBS

Edgar Alan Woolf got a threatening letter and is the latest film person to sport a body-guard. . . .

Renee Adoree

Twenty-four years ago tomorrow "Across the Divide," the first local movie went into production in a Chinese laundry at Seventh and Olive streets. . . . Harold Goodwin remembers him; has rented an abandoned restaurant on Cahuenga Pass and is growing mushrooms for the market. . . . Renee Adoree will be sufficiently recovered to leave the sanitarium by March 13. She'll have to live in a high altitude . . . The El Mirador at Palm Springs drew heavy movie patronage over the week-end. Chico Marx amused the guests by lying on the floor and catching morsels of food tossed by Mervyn Leroy and Ginger Rogers. . . . Charlie Farrell and Virginia Valli like the desert resort so well they have rented an apartment there.

German Playwright Coming To Help in Centenary Of Goethe

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Germany's greatest living dramatic poet, Gerhart Hauptmann, is starting for America in a few days and will be the guest of Columbia University. Two years ago I spent a day with Hauptmann at Bayreuth, where he was attending the Wagner Festival, and his American visit was then being planned. This is the second time he has been over; the other visit caused a legal squabble about the performance of "Hannele," later staged by Mrs. Fiske. Some society to prevent children from earning their living on the stage thought the pillars of civilization would topple if a young actress were allowed to appear in this dream play.

George Seibel

Hauptmann is coming over now to assist in the commemoration of the centenary of Goethe's death. Hauptmann is the right man for this, because he is Germany's foremost living poet, and also because he looks so much like Goethe in old age that if you met him on the streets of Weimar you'd think the calendar had skipped a century.

The New York Times says Hauptmann will direct the last rehearsals of his new play, "Before Sunrise," which is being produced by Max Reinhardt, before leaving for America. The "new play" happens to be the first play Hauptmann ever wrote, and is nearly half a century old.

The first production of "Before Sunrise" in the Lessing Theater, of Berlin, nearly caused a riot, like the first performance of Victor Hugo's "Hernani" in Paris half a century before. Hauptmann, first of the Naturalists to win fame, has written nearly 50 plays since then, "The Sunken Bell," played in this country by E. H. Sothern, being the most famous of them all.

On my way to Germany two years ago I was asked by one of the German radio magnates whether there were any famous Germans I'd like to meet. As I wasn't going over on a lion-hunt, I wrote that I wouldn't go out of my way to meet anybody except Paul Hindenburg or Gerhart Hauptmann. Landing at Bremen I found this had been taken seriously, for a letter informed me that the President of the Reich would be in the Rhineland while I was in Berlin, but Hauptmann would be in Bayreuth while I was in Nuremberg, and would be glad to receive me.

So I went to Bayreuth to meet Hauptmann, whose works I had followed from the very beginning. I intended to remain only an hour or two.

"Surely you did not come to Bayreuth merely to say 'hello' and run off again," he exclaimed. "There's no opera tonight and you must stay over. You must manage it some way. We'll have an evening worth while."

I sent a wire to Munich, postponing my arrival for another day, and we did have a memorable evening in Bayreuth, dampened only by the thought that Siegfried Wagner lay dying a few blocks away.

Frau Hauptmann, who was a celebrated violinist, and their son, Benvenuto, who has translated Conrad and Kipling, were in the group. We were joined by Prof. Fiedler, who has the chair of German literature at Oxford, and Madame Maurois, wife of the Frenchman who wrote "Ariel." We walked in the gardens of the old Schloss while an open-air concert was going on, keeping far enough from the music to carry on conversations.

CLIMAX OF POLITENESS

Finally we adjourned to one of the favorite dining resorts of Bayreuth, and there we dined from 7 o'clock to 1 a. m. There wasn't anything under the sun, from "Hamlet" to the musical glasses, that wasn't discussed. This is not a mere figure of speech, for Hauptmann had just finished his new version of "Hamlet," and the musical glasses upon the table tinkled until there were nine empty bottles in a row.

At last the hour of midnight had struck, and nearly all the other guests had departed. Our group also began reluctantly to think of going home. We rose and slowly wended our way toward the door.

Then came an exhibition of the most elaborate politeness I have ever seen. Hauptmann, of course, was known to everybody in the place and everybody had been watching only him. Evidently he was one of the star attractions of that particular resort. And when we passed out through the door, there were the host and hostess, bowing very low, with these words:

"We are most grateful to your worship for having adorned our establishment with your presence this evening."

Never would I have believed in such politeness had I not heard it and seen it.

Hauptmann is to be received by President Hoover in the White House while a guest of our country. Perhaps President Hoover might learn that little formula of the Bayreuth hosts for use on the occasion of Hauptmann's visit.

THE FINEST RADIOS IN MAJESTIC HISTORY

Winnie Stars In Enright

Winnie Lightner, goofy girl of the movies, is starred in "Manhattan Parade," current film in the Enright. The picture burlesques the Broadway show business and it has to do with a crazy producer who literally turns a theater inside out. Smith and Dale, comedy team, and Charles Butterworth are in the cast and have more to do with the story than starring Winnie has.

A variety bill is on the stage. Features include Archie and Gertie Falls, Worth and Thompson and Carney and Jean.

War Scenes In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Vivid pictures of the main centers of the conflict now raging in Shanghai are presented in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News, being seen in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters, with graphic descriptions by the Globe Trotter. There are scenes in the Chinese quarters, now laid waste, and of the harbor and the famous Bund, the industrial section of the heart of the International Settlement. Pictures also show United States Marines marching through the city, a welcome sight to the 4,000 Americans residing in Shanghai.

The signing of the compact whereby 21 railroad unions representing 1,250,000 men, agree to accept a 10 per cent wage reduction for one year, is shown. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and David Brown Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, attach their signatures to this vitally important document in Chicago.

WHIRLING SLEDS

The new bathing beach styles for 1932 are shown before a crowd of 2,000 persons at Miami Beach, Florida. New evening gowns are also shown, as are the latest styles for children.

Children of Los Angeles have a new game in which old automobile tires play a prominent part. The idea is to place a tire on top of a hill, fit yourself inside of it pretzel fashion, and roll to the bottom.

GALLOPING HORSES

Thrills abound in the picture of the Grand Prix of Nice, France, the great event having been won by Alvarado, owned by A. K. Maccomber, an American turfman. A crowd of 75,000 gasps as the riders and their mounts plunge over the barriers.

Daredevils in Winter Haven, Florida, engage in a mad hair-raising race. After speeding across a lake, they dash through a wall of fire coming from gasoline ignited on the surface of the water.

Plays, Players, By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Today's our day for statistics. Ready? It requires nine baggage cars to transport the setup for "The Band Wagon," the revue, recently of Broadway, that comes to the Nixon next week. It will take enough cars to make a traffic jam to unload all the customers at theater door at the same time. Isn't it wonderful what you learn from statistics? Fred and Adele Astaire, Helen Broderick and Frank Morgan are the stars of "The Band Wagon."

Small Timer says another thing this country needs is a return of the simplicity that went with striking matches on the trousers-leg.

* * *

Everybody is trying to take something from the German, so Gladys Unger took a play by Wilhelm Sterck. She adapted it, and her foster-che-ild, now called "Experience Unnecessary," will be paraded before folks for approval in the Alvin next week. Its sponsors are the Professional Players. 'Twill have Veriee Teasdale and Walter Woolf in the top-cast positions and Rex O'Malley as a runner-up.

* * *

* * *

Terry Turner is in town. He was the first manager of the first Loew theater in Pgh., Loew's Lyceum. He remained here several months—until the late Marcus Loew had another theater to open. That was Terry's job—official opener and putter-on-its-feeter. For several years he has been a showman on his own. Goes over to Europe, grabs something he thinks his fellow-citizens ought to see, and lets 'em see it. Just now he thinks Pittsburgh ought to see his Ubangis. What are Ubangis? Well, they are Africans, and the female of the species is very lippy. A lip like a front porch is the Ubangis' idea of beauty, and Terry has some that are very beautiful by that standard. He'll have 'em on view in Motor Square Garden for a coupla weeks, come next Tuesday. Among the bevy is a queen, whose lower lip is eight inches in circ.

* * *

Small Timer says if there are any philosophers who think there is no such thing as a positive negative they should hear the missus when he hints about a night out.

"The Servant In the House" will be played in Carnegie Music Hall next Monday night by Phidelah Rice. That's right—Phidelah Rice—and nobody else. He will play all the parts.

New Shows On Way Here

Conrad Nagel, popular hero of the screen, appears in person in the Penn, beginning tomorrow. The screen will have Chester Morris in "Corsair."

The bill in the Stanley, beginning tomorrow, will heve Ted Lewis and his band on the stage and "Forbidden," with Barbara Stanwyck, on the screen.

WARNER OLAND FILM

The Davis, beginning tomorrow, will present John Boles and Linda Watkins in the film, "Good Sport." This picture also will open Saturday in the Enright, with Dick Powell returning to the stage in that theater.

OTHER BOOKINGS

'Ben Hur' Now Is Noisy

"Ben Hur" opened a three-day engagement in the Sheridan Square yesterday. This is the old silent movie, with a musical score and noise tacked onto it. Whether that is an improvement depends on your state of mind. The sound effects do add to the confusion of the story, however.

"Ben Hur," both as a book and as a drama, is too well known to need any long-winded explanation here. It will suffice to remind that the picture has Ramon Novarro in the title role and that it remains one of the most elaborate spectacles ever filmed.

Vaudeville on the stage doesn't claim any special bouquets. The best thing about it is the Dancing Royces, headed by the girl, Rita.

'Manchuria, Peace,' Hungry Club Topic

"Manchuria and World Peace" will be the subject of an address by Dr. T. Z. Koo, graduate of St. John's University, Shanghai, at a luncheon of the Hungry Club in Fort Pitt Hotel at noon tomorrow. He is vice president of the World's Student Christian Federation.

Y. M. W. H. A. Players To Present Comedy

"Mud and Treacle," an English drawing room tragi-comedy, by Benn Levy, will be produced by the Co-operating Players of the Y. M. & W. H. A., in the association building, Bellefield avenue, February 7 and 8. Rehearsals have been under way six weeks, under direction of Milton Brauman. Many of the cast are experienced actors.

Lecturer Speaks On Sea Birds Tonight

Alfred M. Bailey, will speak on "Sea Birds and Coral Sands," in a free illustrated lecture tonight at 8:15 in the Carnegie Museum Lecture Hall.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough due to a cold. It takes but a moment to mix, costs little, and saves money, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

'UNCLE BOB AND BETTY'

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN

GOOD OLD POPEYE, Tillie the Toiler, Bringing Up Father, Krazy Kat, Ella Cinders and other stellar comics of the daily Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, are to be read by Uncle Bob and Betty over WCAE at 6 p. m. every Tuesday and Thursday, starting tonight . . . The feature, long popular with kiddies and grown-ups on Sunday, was added to the schedule of WCAE at the request of thousands of teachers, parents and children throughout the tri-state district . . . Next time you feel musically alert, try to hum the station break theme music on the Columbia network . . . It was composed purposely so that it could not be easily memorized . . . Channon Collinge, director of the Cathedral Hour on CBS Sundays, wrote the music.

Darrell V. Martin

Question a Day:

I live 127 miles from Pittsburgh. I play a banjo. Is there any way one of your stations could give me an audition without having to travel this distance? . . . F. R. M.

Answer—Only way we know is to charter a toll line for 15 or 20 minutes and play over the telephone. That's the way Mildred Hunt got her job.

Oh, yes, there's another way, too. Happen to think of it. KDKA audition experts received a strange package from C. L. K., 563 Green street, Meadville, containing two homemade phonograph records and three special needles. C. L. K., a tenor, and his pal, G. F., a pianist, couldn't make it into Pittsburgh for an audition so they did the next best thing—they made records of their efforts and left the judgment up to folks down here.

* * *

Studio Lights:

What wouldn't we give to hear "Gunboat Gibbons" describe one of those Shanghai scrimmages over the radio, direct from the U. S. S. Houston . . . Do you know that real bullets and shell fire sound like mere hisses over the air . . . When studio folks want machine gun fire, the production man paddles a leather cushion with a thin slat . . .

You may be interested to know that the "Stewart Sisters" who sang so well in a surprise program from a Pittsburgh station one afternoon recently, poo-pooed the idea of staying here for $100 a week . . . an real life they're the Pollyanna Glad Girls of WLW . . .

Five blends of walnut and oak wood are interlaid in two spiffy humidors sent Ed Harvey and Glenn Riggs by member of the Western Penitentiary musical unit who broadcast every third Sunday of the month . . .

Ed Sprague, highest paid tenor in Pittsburgh churches, does a marvelous job at describing basketball games and fights for WWSW . . . In his younger days, Sprague was a collegiate basketball star . . .

Three cheers for Herb McGee too . . . he has shown the greatest improvement of all Pittsburgh announcers in the last three months . . . Honest injun his reading even of a 200-word soap advertisement last night was done so skillfully that we were delighted at the melodic twang of his voice . . .

Ferde Grofe's full name is Ferdinand Rudolph von Grofe, but he shortened it to save wear and tear on his fountain pen . . .

Heard Dave Olson on "Noon Novelties" the other day . . . With a delineator of rural characters like this in our city, why doesn't some sponsor come forward and give Pittsburgh an honest-to-goodness program of "Real Folks" caliber . . . or a local "Seth Parker" . . .

What did Col. Stoopnagle say to Budd when he landed a show with the soap manufacturer? . . . "Remembah, my boy, we must keep it clean!"

Morton Downey remembers when he was referred to merely as "the husband of Barbara Bennett" . . . let's see, who is this Barbara?

Chauncey Parsons, distinguished Pittsburgh tenor, has resigned NBC in Chicago to become head of the musical production department at WBBM. . . . Chauncey sings over WBBM (770 kc.) at 9:45 tonight and 9:30 every Sunday night.

WWSW is to broadcast organ concerts from Carnegie Music Hall every Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock starting this Sunday . . .

Years ago Kate Smith sang in a Washington, D. C., theater for $75 a week. . . . Six days on the same stage next week will bring her $7,000. . . .

Clara, Lu and Em go mourning soon . . . a change in time we mean . . .

William S. Rainey, producer of many exciting NBC dramas, and Miss Frances Rosalie Lynch, NBC hostess, face each other at the breakfast table every day now . . . Le ceremony was Tuesday. . . .

In connection with the feature "Death Valley Days," Ed Harvey tells us that Death Valley Scotty used to sit at a table, tear a $50 bill in half, give the waiter one part, retaining the other and say, "If the service is all right I will give you the rest of the bill."

Uncle Bob, Betty To Read Comics

"Uncle Bob and Betty"—popular purveyors of humor in reading the Sun-Telegraph comics over WCAE every Sunday—become an evening feature of WCAE every Tuesday and Thursday night at 6 o'clock, beginning this evening. Popeye the Sailor, Tillie the Toiler and other "funnies" of the daily Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will be interpreted before the WCAE microphone by pleasant "Uncle Bob" and the ever-inquisitive "Betty."

What's doing in Shanghai? Keep posted by listening every day to The Globe Trotter on WCAE at 9:05 in the morning, 12:15 at noon, 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

The Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air will "carry on" tonight at the usual hour of 11, offering a dance band and several soloists over WCAE.

Tomorrow afternoon at 5:15, WJAS in Pittsburgh will carry a special Hearst Radio Service feature—a talk by Mayor Hoan, of Milwaukee, on how Milwaukee as a city keeps itself out of debt and on a sound financial basis.

UNMASKED! Full Tea Flavor

It's the wonderful catalytic process used in curing Tetley Tea that releases the full, true tea-flavor. This process holds back elements that mask the "bouquet" of even the choicest tea! And so you have flavor of exquisite quality—and so much of it that Tetley Tea is actually economical to use.

AND HERE IS THE SECRET OF LOVELIEST TEA!

After you have gotten your package of Tetley Tea, be sure to get the full benefit of it! Simple, but special directions on the package—will help you brew tea such as you have never tasted. Read them—follow them!

Local Druggists Offer England's Great Formula for 5-Day Trial

Thousands of rheumatism and neuritis preparations have been offered to the people of this country. Some of these medicines have been good; many have proven worthless.

The chemist firm of George Eade, Ltd., of London, England, does not claim that Eade's English Pills will bring relief in EVERY case of "rheumatism." But these famous chemists do say that Eade's Pills have proven successful in thousands of cases where other remedies have failed. For generations Eade's Pills have been well known by doctors, throughout the world. The reputation of Eade's Pills has grown year after year because one happy person has told another of the blessed relief obtained.

No Drastic Drugs in Eade's

In order that YOU may test the merits of Eade's Pills in your own case, arrangements have been made with your druggist to supply you with a full size package of Eade's Pills. Give them a fair trial. They cannot harm you because they contain no drastic drugs. No doubt you will be greatly benefited.

Do not delay. Waiting often makes your condition worse. Eade's Pills are here to help you, if you will give them a chance.

FREE 5-DAY TRIAL

This coupon entitles you to full sized package Eade's Celebrated English Gout Pills on our liberal plan:

Eade's must bring you quick relief from the muscular aches and pains of gout, simple neuralgia, or other symptoms commonly mistaken for "rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, or lumbago."

Unless you are thoroughly pleased with your improvement within 5 days, you may return the partly-used package and have every penny of your deposit handed back! This honest offer made direct by by us, the originators of Eade's Celebrated Gout Pills, is backed by your own local druggist. Eade's Pills are as safe as they are satisfactory. Tear out this coupon at ONCE.

Easiest Way To Break Up a Cold

Millions Say of This Proved Way

Works Fast—Makes You Feel Like a New Person Before You Know It

Take two tablets now.

Better almost before you know it.

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business — don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a little cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go, the cold breaks up, poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant sugar coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 16 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

3 times more for your money and greater protection against colds

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC goes 3 times as far because it's 3 times as powerful as any other leading mouth wash. That's economy for you! Why waste money on ordinary antiseptics that must be used full strength?

UNLIKE ordinary mouth washes, Pepsodent Antiseptic really kills germs—even when diluted with 2 parts of water. That is why it is a safe and swift weapon against sore throat colds—and Bad Breath (Halitosis). It is the most economical mouth antiseptic you can use. Pepsodent Antiseptic is at least three times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence, it goes three times as far—gives you three times as much for your money—gives you greater protection against sore throat colds, bad breath. You can fool yourself with weak antiseptics, but you can't fool the germs. Remember there are just two kinds of mouth antiseptics—those that must be used full strength—and Pepsodent Antiseptic that is highly germicidal when diluted. When choosing your antiseptic be sure you choose the one that kills germs even when you add water. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—and be safe! Be safe—and save money!

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds, proves its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember Pepsodent Antiseptic is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water!

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Society Events

Now that our January weddings are over, romantic minded folk are anticipating the promise of spring nuptials. Among the first will be that of Mary Margaret Marshall, daughter of the Charles D. Marshalls, of Fifth avenue, and Harry W. Rafferty, son of the Kenneth F. Rafferty, of Kentucky avenue.

The wedding will take place Saturday afternoon, April 2, at the fashionable hour of 5:30 o'clock in the Church of the Ascension, with the Rev. Boyd Edwards officiating. And there'll be a reception afterwards in the Marshall home.

Jane Marshall will be her sister's maid of honor, and Mary Rafferty, sister of the bridegroom, Lucile Todd, Harriet Fickes, all of Pittsburgh's younger set, Edwina Pickeral, of Louisville, Ky., Charlotte Goodwill, of Jamestown, and Isabel Healy, of Pottstown, N. Y., will be the bridesmaids.

Aiken Fisher, son of the Chester G. Fishers, of Beechwood boulevard, will be best man, and the ushers will be announced later.

News of what society folk are doing at the various resorts is beginning to reach us now that the Florida season has begun.

Active In South

At St. Petersburg, Fla., where there may always be found a late winter colony of Pittsburghers, Miss Romaine Clark, of this city, and Mrs. Charles G. Blake, of St. Petersburg, entertained 20 guests recently in honor of the Princess Der Ling. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. William F. Conner, of Pittsburgh.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter A. Dearth have arrived at the Soreno for a fortnight's visit, and the O. M. Reifs are at the resort for the season.

The Albert Horne Burchfields are expected to join the Pittsburgh colony at the Hotel Soreno within a day or so.

Mrs. Birney K. McMechen is at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, Cal.

Mrs. G. Harton Singer, Jr., has been at the Hotel Pierre, New York.

Mrs. Frederick F. McIntosh, of Sewickley, gave a luncheon Monday in the Edgeworth Club for her sister, Mrs. Chester A. Wiese, of Bronxville, N. Y., who is her house guest. Today Mrs. G. O. Morgan, of Edgeworth, is giving a luncheon for her in her home, and tomorrow Mrs. Frank G. Darlington and Mrs. James West Arrott III will entertain for Mrs. Wiese in the Allegheny Country Club. On Monday Mrs. Robert W. McKnight will be hostess at a luncheon for the visitor in her home.

* * *

Miss Geraldine Shick To Marry on Saturday

Miss Geraldine Shick, daughter of John Shick, of Chestnut street, Latrobe, will become the bride of William E. Newcomer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin M. Newcomer, of Latrobe, Saturday morning at 8 o'clock in the Holy Family Church of Latrobe. The Rev. A. B. Bendick, pastor, will officiate.

With "Waste" as their general subject, members of the Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon heard an exceptionally interesting program yesterday when they met in Mrs. W. B. McFall's home, Clokey avenue. Mrs. John McKelvie, discussing "Thrift of Our Forefathers," showed that the idea was a myth, that they were thrifty because they had to use what came to hand. The number of waste products in "a barrel of crude oil," asphalt, paraffin wax, lubricating oils and other things, were enumerated by Mrs. R. T. Charters, who explained that a market had to be created for them. Mrs. J. E. Stone's comprehensive paper on "A Ton of Coal" included description of a trip down a 500-foot mine shaft. The various uses of sawdust, differentiation in sawdusts and what they are used for, were all a part of Miss Nancy McCormick's paper on "A Cord of Wood," and Mrs. H. F. Ochsenhirt told what is done with the waste redeemed from "a bale of cotton." She concluded her paper in original story form, showing how a couple in the course of a few hours use these by-products in many ways. Mrs. W. M. Bailey concluded the program with world news, bringing the latest word which she had received from the Sun-Telegraph's Globe Trotter in his previous broadcast.

An original entertainment is being arranged by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, for next Friday evening, February 12. The main chapel of the church will be decorated to represent the S. S. Everyland, on which the guests will make a world cruise during the evening. A gang plank will supplant the usual steps into the chapel, curios from many lands will be on exhibit, tea will be served, and different countries reached by Presbyterian missions will be represented in the program and in other ways.

* * *

Two unusually comprehensive book reviews constituted the program for yesterday's meeting of the Edgewood Woman's Club. Mrs. H. L. Calder based her paper, "Present Day Philosophers," on "Living Philosophies," and Mrs. P. W. Morgan reviewed George Boss' "Our New Ways of Thinking." The meeting was in the Edgewood Club, as usual.

Oily hair?...brush up, up!

And from another specialist she learns a trick for making short fingers look long

OILY HAIR—THEN BE SURE TO BRUSH IT UP.....
Away from the scalp. Take only one inch at a time, brush it thoroughly, then go to the next inch. That assures tingling exercise for your scalp and helps to brush the oil out of your hair. Take a piece of cheese-cloth somewhat larger than your brush. Pull it down through the bristles. When you've finished brushing the hair, pull the cheese-cloth out and throw it away. Keeps your brush perfectly clean.

DRY HAIR—BRUSH IT DOWN.....
If your hair is dry...as this hair is...you should always brush it down, to preserve at least what natural oil there is. Brush the hair close to the head in long, regular strokes...every night. (That cheese-cloth stunt we mentioned across the page goes for any kind of hair, of course. It's the only way we've found to keep brushes clean at the base of the bristles.) I think you'll find it pays to keep a supply of cheese-cloth in your dressing table. Inexpensive. Keeps both hair and brush free of dust and dirt.

HAVE YOU SHORT, STUBBY FINGERS?.....
Here's one way to accentuate their length. When you're applying glazed finger nail polish, cover the whole nail with the glaze. Don't wipe any off the tip. But use colorless or very faint pink for this purpose. Dark shades are definitely passé. Paris encourages Dresden finger nail colors now.

★Julia Foster is employed by Palmolive to report last-minute beauty news. She visits hundreds of beauty salons, from month to month. She talks with experts. She attends beauty conventions, visits smart restaurants, clubs, theatres. She reports beauty hints to you in these news flashes.

DON'T BE HARD ON YOUR FACE.....
If you prefer a washcloth for washing the face, be sure you use a very soft cloth. The fuzzy, thick, hard-rubbing cloths some women use are much too hard on delicate skin tissue. Work the lather into face and throat, then rinse it off with warm water. Palmolive Soap is recommended, because it has a protective emollient action on the skin, even after rinsing. This guards the skin from smoke, dust, make-up and the hundred and one bugaboos we poor girls have to fight if we're going to keep our looks.

Beauty in a test-tube

OLIVE oil for the complexion! Always known to keep skin soft, supple, youthful. In thousands of years nothing has ever been found to surpass this beauty secret of the ancients.

But can you get enough olive oil in soap? How much, actually, goes into Palmolive? Here is the exact amount—in this test tube at the right. The exact amount used in every cake of Palmolive. To this generous olive oil content can be directly traced the great benefits of Palmolive Soap to the complexion.

Do you know what is in any other soap you may be using on your face? Palmolive tells you. Palmolive is the only large-selling soap made of vegetable oils exclusively—the only one using olive oil as a base. Other Palmolive ingredients are simply oils from palm trees necessary to produce a richer, creamier, more workable lather than possible with olive oil alone. Palmolive's green color comes from the natural oils of which it is made. There's not a drop of artificial coloring added.

Knowing the value of a liberal amount of olive oil in soap, more than 20,000 of the world's leading beauty experts have for years urged women to use Palmolive Soap as the finest possible safeguard for lovely skin.

WALTER WINCHELL -:- On Broadway

Incorrigible

All of my ways are alien to you,
And all my torment leaves you bitter-cool;
You note the weak and wayward thing I do—
And purse your lips and mark me for a fool.

Yet, I will go on making songs until
The rich earth covers me at last,
And shout with life and revel at the thrill
Of recollections that are clearly past.

No, mark me from your list, but never dream
That I will lose the vision of your lure;
Though fate may wreck and ravage each gay scheme
I still will have the courage to endure—

Remembering the days when glamour stirred

—Don Wahn.

Oop!

H. J. Elliott, of Washington, D. C., wishes this pillar to know that James Cagney, who is making personal appearances, as well as personal cracks, tells this quip during his turn:

"Walter Winchell is coming to town next week—and they will give him the key-hole to the city!"

Very amusing, Mr. Elliott. But it was just as amusing ever so many months ago when Phil Baker, of "Crazy Quilt" pulled it.

Ditto

"Whatever became of the old one about the guy who said: 'I'll swap you five Eddie Cantor autographs for one of Cholly Chaplin?'"

Nifty

In the Harvey George manner. Things are so bad in Hollywood that rival producers are talking to each other, and "extras" are beginning to snap back at people.

The Morning Mail

"Dear Walter Winchell," writes Chamberlain Brown, the casting director for many of the better plays, "I hope you will come to see 'Lysistrata' and review it as we do it at the Riviera. Only five rehearsals with a cast that never witnessed the play before!! Jean Arthur will be in it playing her first dramatic part, as will Fay Marbe playing her first dramatic role."

Thanks for the warning.

Heheheh

And, C. W. F., of the Baltimore Post, contribs:

"Dear Winchell: In the story about Jackie Cooper being lost the other day, you reported he was found in Garbo's shoe . . . Who was with him?"

Wallace Beery!

Help, Police, Murder!

The Detroit Free Press, it appears, of Jan. 29th got more laughs with this paragraph than all its humorists could get in a week. Looka:

"CHICAGO, Ill. (AP), Jan. 28.—Linda Watkins was married to Gabriel L. Hess today. She gave her age as 23 in the marriage license. Hess said she was 50."

Haw!

Sid Parrygraph

It is so quiet in the night clubs lately you can hear the thud as the waiters turn a page of the racing forms.

O, Mr. Wilstach!

Suggested for the simile dictionary: Earl Bright: Perfunctory as a kiss in a railroad station . . . Bugs Baer: Political leaders are in the same fix as the drum major who couldn't find the parade . . . Pathfinder: Real as the grief when a fat salary starts in to reduce . . . Embarrassed as a Californian shoveling snow off his sidewalk . . . H. I. Phillips: Chilly as the treatment at a Broadway theater ticket agency . . . J. Brooks Atkinson: Vague as a candidate for the presidency . . . Dana L. Cotie: Far away as the corner that prosperity is around . . . Allan Prescott: Forgetable as a waiter's face.

Not True to Be Good

The Herald-Tribune features a news story about Beatrice Lillie singing with the Theater Guild to appear in George Bernard Shaw's play, "Too True to Be Good," and quotes her as asserting: ". . . and I am particularly pleased to appear in a play by one of my countrymen."

Mr. Shaw, so that the record will remain accurate, is a Dubliner, and Miss Lillie a Canuck.

Ouch!

Harold Roy reports that Charles K. Champlin, who simulates a dog throughout the greater part of "House of Doom," plays his part with such accuracy and fidelity that three dogs snapped at him one day on the street as he was explaining the story of the piece to a friend.

Of all the reviewers who covered the show, it was Whitney Bolton, of a theatrical daily, who best described Mr. Champlin's performance.

A Pip of a Plot

"I know an easy way for the Japs to occupy Shanghai," says Izzy Elinson. "Just let them send their acrobats over to the Chink city and everyone would walk out on them!"

Earl Carroll's 'Insanities'

Tomorrow's pillar will permit more elbow room to report the "scene" recently staged at the Casino by Earl Carroll, formerly of Pittsburgh, but more recently of Atlanta.

Before hundreds of talented stars, city officials and lesser knowns, Mr. Carroll called upon to take a bow, made a talk. He singled out That Winchell Person and gave the Broadway Frankenstein a piece of his alleged mind. But he had hundreds of excellent reasons for so asserting himself, and we were sorry that a number of the assemblage groaned and booed Carroll into a hasty exit.

He dashed madly out of the Casino into the foyer, broke down and wept. Later he phoned Mayor Walker his apologies, and Carroll also sent his regrets to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Blumenthal, the grand hosts of the party.

It all reminds me of a very well-known gentleman, who started his theatrical career for a most unusual reason.

It seems he had a quarrel with his wife's family—so he decided to produce profane productions—and shame 'em.

COAL DEALERS EXTEND CREDIT TO POOR BOARD

POLITICS

Spring Campaign Data Presented for Voters.

By MARK SHIELDS

Mark Shields

Even casual observation evidences an exceptional attention this year to political affairs. Here in Pennsylvania and Allegheny County we have gone through two unusually active political years, in state and local campaigns, and the intensity of the interest aroused is carrying over. National campaigns always are stimulating, and in addition the Independent ferment of the recent past turns a more alert regard toward the struggles for the U. S. Senate, Congress and the State Legislature.

Often this interest lacks an opportunity for direct expression because the voters are unfamiliar with the several steps necessary to register their preferences, even in some cases being unfamiliar with the men holding the positions for which contests are fought.

Without this information, political discussion can be a waste of time, so today and tomorrow in this column a calendar of the political year will be printed, together with the names of the Allegheny County incumbents of places which are at stake.

The political parties, which may nominate their candidates at the primary election and the order in which party names appear on the ballot, are:

Republican, Democratic, Liberal, Prohibition and Socialist.

United States Senator.
State Treasurer.
Auditor General.
One judge of the State Supreme Court.
Two judges of the State Superior Court.

* * *

Five Congressmen To Be Chosen Here

Representatives in Congress in each congressional district, of which there are five in Allegheny County.

Senator in the General Assembly in each odd-numbered district, of which there are two in Allegheny County.

Representative in the General Assembly in each county or representative district as apportioned by law, of which there are 13 districts with 27 representatives in Allegheny County.

Two delegates and two alternates to the national conventions from each congressional district.

Two members of the state committee, one man and one woman, for each senatorial district.

General election, Tuesday, November 8.

Registration days in Pittsburgh, March 23, September 8 and 20 and October 8.

Registration days in McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton, April 6, September 8 and 20 and October 8.

Boroughs and townships, February 23 and 24 and September 6 and 7.

Last day for enrollment in boroughs and townships with the County Commissioners for the spring primary, April 16.

* * *

Last Assessment For Primary Feb. 24

Last day to be assessed for primary, February 24.

Last day to be assessed for general election, September 7.

Last day for filing petitions with the secretary of the commonwealth for the primary March 7, before 5 p. m.

Last day for filing objections to petitions, March 12.

First day to secure signatures on petitions to be filed with County Commissioners, February 11.

Last day for candidates to file statement of expense for the primary, May 11.

Last day for treasurer of political parties to file statement of expense for primary, May 26.

Tomorrow will be printed a continuation of the calendar, together with names of incumbents whose terms must be filled this year.

Mark Shields will talk over Station WCAE at 6:30 o'clock this evening, interviewing Senator Frank J. Harris on questions of politics and government.

Pitt Man Predicts New Tax System

Adoption of a better system of taxation was predicted today by Dr. Marion K. McKay, professor of economics, University of Pittsburgh, before the Pitt Business Men's Club luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce. Dr. McKay said:

"The public is more tax conscious than ever before. We may expect steps to be taken to hasten abandonment of methods that are antiquated or bad."

EMBERS OF LOVE

CHAPTER I.

Every morning at 7 Lily Lou's alarm went off,
Dang, dang, dang, wrr, dang, daang!

Lily Lou hated it.

Hated getting up.

"Oooh!" she yawned. "Ooh!"

Dang, dang, dang. . .

The second alarm wasn't so loud as the first. But it served. With a groan, half sigh, half yawn, Lily Lou reached a slim arm out of bed, and stopped the din.

Once out of bed it wasn't so bad. A hasty wash in the small, steamy bathroom at the end of the hall. A tumbling into clothes laid out on a chair the night before. Deft smoothing of powder over fresh, tingling skin. Touch of lipstick, drop perfume behind the ears and on her hanky.

Up went the wallbed. Into the closet went kimona and gown. The bedroom was a living room for another 16 hours.

In the empty kitchen she found a dish of prunes, and a slice of buttered toast, which she ate standing up, holding a cup of cooling coffee in the other hand. Not much of a breakfast, but all she ever had time for.

DREAMS OF MARRIAGE

This morning, as usual, she had to run for the train. Promptly at eight-two it slid into the station. Eight-two and a half, and Lily Lou was tearing the day's ticket out of the commute book in her purse. The train was on its way to San Francisco. One more day begun. One more chance for life to set the wheels of adventure in motion.

Lily Lou was 20.

Twenty....She could remember the time when that seemed old. When she was 15, 16, 17 ....well, right up to a few months ago, 20 had sounded old. She had thought that something would happen, long before that.

Being married, for one thing. When you're 15 or 16 you think that SURELY you'll be married when you're 20—at least! Love....it must come soon. It must, it must! But the days slip by and you get older and older, and there's nothing....

Oh, boys, of course. Back home when she was going to high school Lilly Lou had had the usual boy friends. There was a tall boy with sandy hair who had liked her even when she was in grammar school. Invited her to his house for a party, once, but she had been too shy to go, and she had hid the Valentine he sent her. Later on there was Bert Bartells, and George Reed and dances, and rowing and swimming in the lake. Sometimes, looking back at it, Lily Lou felt a little pang of regret for Bert....It was true he hadn't amounted to much ....never would....but maybe it was better, settling down and being happily married to someone like that, than trying to amount to something yourself.

SCRAMBLE FOR SEATS

Amounting to something is discouraging sometimes. It seems thrilling at first. Then it gets hard, and then it gets tiresome, and then you begin to wonder if after all . . .

Lily Lou sighed, and got off the electric train, joined with the hurrying horde to board the ferry, and try for a seat up front on the upper deck.

She liked to sit in front, to feel the wind whipping her cheek. Liked to watch the green-blue water part in swells on each side of the bow, and fall away in bubbling, creamy-topped froth.

But it wasn't the thrill that it was at first, when she came from Woodlake, and started to live with May and Raymond in Oakland, and work in San Francisco. One gets used to anything, even lovely San Francisco Bay and seagulls, and ocean liners, and battered tankers steaming in from the Golden Gate.

Take the matter of money. A hundred a month sounds like a fortune in the country. But it doesn't go far in the city. Not if you're paying for music lessons, and board.

"I won't take board!" May had said at first when it was planned that Lily Lou should come to live with her. "If my own sister can't be welcome here, things have come to a pretty pass. Board! I should say not!"

PAYING HER SHARE

But though May and her husband both worked they weren't getting ahead as fast as they might, and with Raymond's relatives using the place as a sort of free boarding house already, it seemed only right that Lily Lou should do her share.

Besides, she liked to. It gave her a feeling of independence. Of power. It was exhilarating to feel independent. Being the youngest in a large family is all well enough in a way. You get advantages that the others never had, never could have had.

Everyone in the family, from great Uncle Zeph, who was almost a hermit and had a shack way up on Lone Mountain, to May, who was only five years older than she, had been helping pay for music lessons ever since Lily Lou could remember.

They had emptied shabby pockets on the kitchen table. Two dollars, three dollars, and fifty cents, and two dimes an a nickel . . . three dollars and seventy-five cents, by gum! that ought to buy a little girl a dress! Mother had sat up nights sewing, her tired eyes closing wearily sometimes, as she struggled to keep awake. And May curling her hair for her, and their older sister Bess, bringing her family in to town for the church social, or whatever it was where Lily Lou was to sing, or play the piano . . . No wonder they all took such an interest in her life now. In a way it was their life, their career, their success.

Lily Lou understood that. She knew they had all worked together to give her advantages they had never had. So it was up to her to make good. No love, no marriage, for her. At least not for years and years. Work and music, instead.

It would be wonderful to sing in opera some day. To come out before the curtain flushed and laughing, and take call after call. Sometimes she could imagine it so vividly that it seemed real already.

FEMININE CHATTER

Sitting there on the upper deck of the ferry, Lily Lou looked around at the other commuters. At the girls, young and pretty girls like herself. They sat together in little groups, chatting and laughing, on their way to work.

The boat creaked slowly into its pier. The gangplank was lowered. The crowd streamed off, formed two human rivers, flowing up each side of Market street, tributaries leading off at California street, at Sacramento street, at every corner, being lost at last in the general morning crowd.

Lily Lou walked briskly. A new day beginning...Anything could happen . . . Anything... The look of expectancy came back into her dark eyes, the corners of her full red lips turned upward, the warm color came into her creamy skin.

"I'm not really discouraged," she thought, dreamily, "Just kind of tired of waiting . . . I wish something would happen . . . soon."

QUIRK OF FATE

Lily Lou didn't know it, but something had already happened. Something that was going to undermine the foundations of that very career she was so sure about.

Up Market street, at the head of the crowd of 8 o'clock commuters, strode Lily Lou Lansing, opera star to be, brown eyes asparkle, red lips parted, dark hair whipping in the wind, under her tan felt hat.

And after her, fast as he dared, keeping her well in sight, strode a young man with a rather collegiate cap, and a camel-hair overcoat that flapped about his knees.

His brow was puckered, his long arms were thrust into the overcoat's capacious pockets. His eyes never left the slim, hurrying figure of the girl ahead.

"I know that girl," said Ken Sargent to himself. "I'm sure I know her . . . now who the dickens is she?"

ACQUAINTANCE RENEWED

Twice he almost had it, her name was almost on the tip of his tongue, but he couldn't quite get it. And then it came to him, all in a rush . . . Lucile Lansing . . . Woodlake, and the Lansing's cottage in the village. . . . Big family of them, poor as church mice . . . the mother taught school, father didn't do much, had a lame leg or something . . . Lucile was the baby . . . what was it they used to call her? . . . Lily Lou! That's it! Lily Lou!

Inquiringly, as if he had called to her, Lily Lou Lansing turned her head, gazed straight into the eyes of Kentfield Carey Sargent, Third.

Instantly he beamed, whipped off his cap. "Don't you remember me? I'm Ken Sargent. Used to come up to the lake in summer . . . you know—Woodlake. Aren't you Lily Lou Lansing?"

THREADS OF PAST

"Ken Sargent! Why, of course!" Lily Lou took his outstretched hand, smiled up at him winningly. But her eyes were clouded. She was embarrassed. A flame of color came out and burned in her clear, pale cheek. She thought. . . . "Ken Sargent, the rich boy who used to come up for the summers . . . His father used to fish . . . He remembers our house, and all us kids flippity

Mr. and Mrs. Bartley McManus, Bertha, Pa., with their family after 14 years of married life. Mr. McManus is holding their second set of twins, aged 1½, and Mrs. McManus their third, 7 weeks old. He just lost his job, quickly found another.

FOOD PLEA MADE FOR CHILDREN

Thirty years hence, persons now children will show physical effects of the present industrial depression, in the opinion of doctors and nurses in charge of Pittsburgh's child clinics, unless funds are provided to supply these children with proper food and medical attention.

Fathers out of work cannot buy proper food, consequently babies born in their homes during this period have a poor start, explains one of the leading child specialists of Pittsburgh. He says:

"All people can stand a period of starvation. But in the case of a little child who is undernourished, if some slight disease gets a hold, it very likely will stay with him through life. It would be good economy today to see that every child was properly fed and cared for."

A few of the foods absolutely necessary for children and which are in the expensive classes, according to attaches of the Falk Clinic and the Children's Hospital, are tomato juice, orange juice and codliver oil.

64 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 8; diphtheria, 4; measles, 31; whooping cough, 6; mumps, 15; chicken pox, 4; pneumonia, 4, and erysipelas, 1.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

GENEVA, Feb. 4.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Disarmament Conference was held up for one hour while we all went to the League of Nations meeting to demand of Japan that she quit shooting while the opening session was in conference. That meeting was much more dramatic of the two. Japan has been winning hands with a pair of jacks for four months and finally they caught 'em at it. It was England that called the turn on 'em when they read a list of battleships that was on the way there. Japan realized they wasn't dealing with chopsticks then. The biggest laugh, of course, was uttered unintentionally by the Japanese when he spoke of Chinese aggression. Well, that like to broke up the meeting. The conference is off to flying start. There is nothing to prevent their succeeding now but human nature.

Widow, Three Sons Left $120,000 Estate

FATHER OF 12 WORKS 2 DAYS

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3.—With only two days' work a week, Bartley F. McManus, of Bertha, near here, is wondering today how he is going to support his wife and 12 children. The children include three sets of twins. McManus, 36, for years a fire boss at the Bertha Consumers Coal Company mine, was given a job at the Atlasburg mine last week when his former mine discontinued operations.

The McManus' have been married 14 years. Of the 12 children, six are twins. The oldest child is 13 years old, and the youngest set of twins, 7 weeks old.

The McManus children: Magdalen, 13; George, 11; Kathryn, 10; Bartley, Jr., 7; Henry, 6; Marcella, 5. The twins are: William and Walter, 3; Clara and Casimir, 1½, and Bernard and Bernice, 7 weeks old.

SEEK CASHIER AT M'KEESPORT

Bernard Friedman, assistant cashier of the closed Pennsylvania Deposit Bank of McKeesport, is being sought on a warrant charging embezzlement of bank funds.

Friedman is charged in an information made by George F. Sloan, of the State Banking Department, in 27 counts, alleging embezzlement of sums totaling $2,500 between October and December, 1931.

The information was made yesterday before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan, who set bail at $5,000, which the alderman said was to be posted today.

Bernard Friedman is a son of Henry Friedman, former president, who was sued by the State Banking Department last September when it was discovered there was a shortage of $123,000 in the surplus and capital accounts of the bank.

Pittsburgh Autoist Freed in Death

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 4.—George W. Hoffman, of Pittsburgh, was found not guilty of voluntary manslaughter, in the death of Harry H. Davis, of Coraopolis, near Laughlintown, July 24 last, in an auto collision.

RELIEF SURVEY OF COUNTY RUSHED

Fuel Distribution Likely To Resume Monday; Need Of New System Studied

Distribution of coal to the needy was in sight today following an agreement of coal dealers yesterday to extend six months credit to the Allegheny County Poor Board in anticipation of 1932 taxes.

Three weeks ago the distribution of coal used with the exhaustion of the poor board's funds. Under the new plan distribution may resume Monday.

The coal dealers and the directors have agreed on the principle of the plan, and details will be worked out later with individual coal dealers with whom the directors formerly did business on a cash basis.

Meanwhile, efforts to assemble facts about the relief situation and needs in Allegheny County continued today as a committee of six, representing the Welfare Fund and the Allegheny County Emergency Association, rushed its survey of conditions.

RELIEF SURVEY

Work of the committee was centered on three phases of the relief situation:

1—Determination of actual relief needs in Allegheny County.

2—Determination of possible sources of additional funds, if these are found to be needed.

3—Possible recommendation of a new plan for centralizing administration of relief to all cases resulting from unemployment.

Results of the survey will be reported within a comparatively short time, it was learned.

Members of the committee include A. K. Oliver, chairman; G. G. Coolidge, and R. Templeton Smith, representing the Welfare Fund; Frank Bell, F. J. Chesterman and John F. Casey, representing the Emergency Association.

REPORTS ASKED

Figures already have been called for, it was learned, from Ralph J. Watkins, of the school of business research, University of Pittsburgh; from the Federation of Social Agencies; from large industrial corporations and all relief agencies in the county, in an effort to make an accurate check of the extent of unemployment and distress in the district, as well as the condition of business.

A forecast then will be made of the trend of unemployment in the future. Some estimate of the amount of money needed to carry on the program will be made with indications of possible sources of funds.

CITY FIREMEN PROTEST CUTS

Approximately 800 city firemen attended two protest meetings held in Moose Temple last night and today and reaffirmed their stand for the restoration of the 100 firemen furloughed to meet 1932 budget requirements.

John Heinz, president of the City Firemen's Protective Association, who presided, announced that 98 pumpmen, 90 drivers and 21 chiefs' aides reduced to hosemen's pay by the budget cut, have declared their willingness to accept the reductions to help the furloughed men.

Brewery Loses Fight Over Permit Ban

The appeal of the Labor Products and Ice Company, of Brackenridge, from the order of the Pennsylvania Alcohol Board revoking its permit was dismissed by Judge W. Heber Dithrich in Common Pleas Court. The board revoked the permit September 30 after a raid during which it was charged a number of barrels of unlabeled beer of illegal alcoholic content had been loaded at the plant and that other beer was found in the plant. The company's bond to the state was also ordered forfeited by the board.

LIBERTY PARTY MAY JOIN WITH FATHER COX

Leader Confers With Priest Here; Favors 5 Billion Loan to Help Jobless

Indications that the Liberty Party, a political group organized by Col. W. H. (Coin) Harvey, associate of William Jennings Bryan, would unite with the jobless party led by Father James R. Cox, of Old St. Patrick's Church, were made here by H. A. Entrekin, national committeeman of the Liberty party, following a conference with Father Cox.

The Liberty party, organized in 25 states in the Middle West and Southwest, has on its platform much which is demanded by Father Cox for the unemployment relief.

FAVORS U. S. LOAN

Entrekin favors the federal loan of $5,000,000,000 as advocated by William Randolph Hearst. Discussing such a loan he said:

"Mr. Hearst is a real progressive. He is always in my mind, mindful of the under dog and is continually fighting for him. However we would ask for a much larger amount."

Father Cox after the conference commented:

"It is another big step in the fight for the jobless. We are on the right track and everyone knows it."

Duquesne Throng Will Hear Priest

One of the largest community gatherings that has yet heard Father James R. Cox is expected to assemble Friday night in Duquesne when he speaks under the auspices of the Independent Merchants of the city. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of St. Joseph's School, Aurilles street.

Priest Opposes War To Relieve Bad Times

Stimulable residents turned out last night to hear the Rev. James R. Cox condemn the national administration as being partial to the bankers and the wealthy of this country. Father Cox spoke in the Dickson School, Schoyer avenue.

Father Cox said for the United States to declare war on Japan would end the depression for the duration of the conflict, but this country would find itself in even worse condition after the war. He advocated a federal loan for public construction to end the unemployment crisis.

One hundred persons will participate in this year's show including three sons of Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh. Dr. Michael F. Walsh is interlocuter, and Joseph and Lawrence Walsh are end men.

Other end men are Thomas Lysaght, David O'Rourke, Don Casilli and Fred Lucas. The Rev. E. A. Harkins is manager and Tommy Dixon is director of the production.

Independent Leaders Meet in Avalon

A meeting of the chairmen of the Independent Republican party of the 25 boroughs and townships in the Ohio Valley was held in Avalon last night. State Representative Louis W. Hagmaier and John W. Vickerman, new head of the county Election Board, were the speakers. H. A. Quay, chairman of the Independent Republican party in the Ohio Valley, was general chairman.

WORK RESUMES ON 3 BUILDINGS

A partial settlement of the building trade wage controversy is seen in the return today at the old scale of plasterers, lathers and laborers, who recently stopped work on the Gulf Building, the Bell Telephone Building addition and the Little Sisters of the Poor Home.

The return of the men was announced by Joseph H. Duty, president of the Pittsburgh Building Trades Council. The same trades are still out, however, on a number of other jobs, and an effort to reach an agreement is in progress.

Owners of the Gulf Building ordered their plastering contractor, McNulty Brothers, to get work started again at once, according to well informed sources. In order to accomplish this, the contractor was forced to meet the terms of the union, not only on the Gulf job but on the others, it was explained.

BLONDE SINGER OF 'BLUES' PAYS

Mrs. Bertha Jones, of Beaver Falls, who sued Frances Williams, blonde singer of "blues" in George White's "Scandals" and "The New Yorkers," for $100,000 for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Alan Jones, theater musician, has withdrawn the case following a settlement.

The suit has been marked "withdrawn" in the prothonotary's office. Attorney Harry Bluestone, representing Mrs. Jones, said a settlement had been effected, but refused to name the amount. It was reported to have been around $2,500.

Truck Driver Flees As Furniture Falls

Homestead police today are looking for the driver of a furniture truck who gave a motorcycle officer a wild chase through Homestead late yesterday. Motorcycle Patrolman A. W. Holland, of Munhall, saw the truck at Eighth avenue and Dickson street without any license plates. He shouted at the driver, who started the truck and fled. At Seventh and Amity street the truck struck the curb and most of the load fell into the street. The driver and his helper fled. Police confiscated the truck.

Man Writes Will, Ends Life With Gas

After having written a will in which he bequeathed $500 and his life insurance to his mother, Albert Gorwinske, 38, real estate dealer of 2419 Osgood street, ended his life last night by shooting himself in the brain in the office of a friend at 817 Federal street, according to a morgue report.

Gorwinske in his will also asked his mother to care for his children, Peggy and Billy. Friends said that he was worried over financial difficulties.

Bandits Beat Man When Theft Fails

Edward Glenhill, of 3398 Ridgway street, was held up and beaten by two Negroes near his home, he reported to police early today. The thieves found no money in his pockets. He was taken to West Penn Hospital, where he was treated for bruises and face lacerations.

Helping Hand Will Present Minstrel

The Helping Hand, mecca for the city's unemployed, is soon to have a weekly minstrel show all of its own. The talent will be strictly local, and the program will be a typical vaudeville lineup of gags, songs, tap dancing and music.

Don't be fooled! Yellow Teeth are NOT Natural

START using Kolynos—a half-inch of this double-strength dental cream on a dry brush, twice daily—and in 3 days you'll agree that dingy, yellow teeth are not natural. Your teeth will look cleaner—look 3 shades whiter!

Nothing in the world cleans teeth better than Kolynos. It's unique—unlike anything you've ever used. It contains two important ingredients that get remarkable results. One—the finest cleansing agent known—foams into every crevice, washes away debris, erases tartar and removes ugly stain while the second ingredient strikes at the source of most tooth and gum troubles. It kills millions of germs—according to test, 190 million in 15 seconds—germs that swarm into the mouth and cause decay, discoloration and lead to serious gum diseases.

Thus this double action of Kolynos cleans teeth right down to the natural white enamel without injury. It stimulates the gums and leaves the mouth cleaner, better looking and feeling fresher than ever.

If you want sound, white teeth and firm, healthy gums start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush morning and night. In 3 days you'll see for yourself that anyone can have attractive teeth. Buy a tube of Kolynos Dental Cream.

Ed Fitzpatrick Slain When He Leads Police Raid Against Gangsters

CHAPTER XXV.

Tom inspected the window some more and then walked back to his car and drove off. Ed walked around the corner and found four cars lined up. Marty Slattery waved to him.

"In here, Ed," he called. Ed crawled in, Marty reached over, grasped his hand with a friendly pressure and then pressed a service gun in his side. Ed took it quickly, stuffed it in his hip pocket and then choked:

"Hello, Steve—Hello, Mike—Hello, Rod!" he called.

"Where to, Ed? Tom's in back—he's got three others with him. We've got plenty off stuff—tear bombs—sub-machine guns—and 15 fightin' men—"

"Straight out Dunhill road," said Ed, sinking back. He felt like an outcast. Marty waved an arm outside, and the car lurched ahead. On and on they went, Ed grunting out a direction now and then. Hardly a word was spoken. Behind, the headlights of the other five cars lit the road up like the midday sun.

When they got to Boroughville, Ed straightened up.

"Wait a minute, Marty," he said. "I want to talk to Tom."

Marty's hand went out once more and he pulled to the side of the road. The other cars lined up behind. Ed crawled out.

"Tom's in the last car," said Marty. Ed started back. As he passed each car he heard the words, "Hello Ed," and he raised his hand. He would have preferred it if they had said nothing. When he got to Tom's car, he said:

JIM IS SUMMONED

"Better call Jim, Tom—the fight'll be over by the time he gets there." Tom grunted and slid out of the car. Ed walked beside him. "Don't say anything about me," he hoarsed. Tom nodded. He went into a little restaurant and in five minutes he was back. Ed had waited at the side of the road.

"Okay," said Tom. Ed nodded and ran up to the first car.

At Cannondale Ed gave the directions, just as Daisy had told him. They had to leave the cars at the outskirts of Belmonte's domains. The detectives stood in a little grim group.

"You lead the way, Ed," said Tom.

"But—Tom—I'm not on the force," stammered Ed.

"This is a private job," said Tom, "Go ahead!"

Ed shrugged. Somehow he felt out of place—among his former comrades. They trailed behind, some carrying bombs, some long-barrelled guns, which looked like shotguns with huge cylinders at the chambers. They took a tan-bark path and Ed, in the lead, now and then, sought his way by his flashlight.

Soon the squat, low-roofed lodge came in sight. A police-dog began to howl. They crept a little nearer. Then came a shot.

Daisy, with Mickey shielded in her arm, crouched in a corner of the room which had been their joint jail for long hours of premonitory silence. A silence shattered at that moment broken by the sharp crash of a shot. A silence shattered to multi-million bits by a barrage of explosions, by a few hoarse shouts, and the roar of hell-fire.

MICKEY IS BRAVE

"It's Ed, Mickey," Daisy whispered, with a shudder and a smile.

"Sure, and he'll get us out, too. He's the biggest cop next to my father," Mickey whispered back bravely.

The rapid thunder of racing feet sounded near-by, followed by the deafening outburst of a desperate attack, an equally desperate defense. Then the rat-tat-tat of machine-gun-fire swept through the house. Wood and stone crashed. Bullets ripped their way through the door of Daisy's and Mickey's room; a chance bullet split the lock from the wood. Freedom!—of which no advantage could be taken. Daisy was shaking, holding to Mickey for the support which the newly-made corporal gave her with the true valor of an officer.

"It's all right, Daisy. Hold tight. Ed'll get us," he said, holding back an involuntary shudder and sob.

"Sure he will, Mickey. Wait a minute. While it's quiet I'll go out. Promise you'll stay here? Honor bright?" Daisy was on her feet with a lull in the firing, and with Mickey's earnest promise scarcely said, ran to the door. She opened it a bit, pulled it wide and slammed it behind her.

SWEETHEARTS SLAIN

There, in the still, smoke-laden air, not 15 feet away, lay Ed, side by side with "Ginger Slim."

"Ed, Ed, Ed! Did they get you? I did it! I did it! I brought you out here—if they——"

"Yeah—you dirty little rat. You double-crossed Belmonte just once too often, you blonde punk . . ." Guiseppe Belmonte, for one time in his career, was mad. His automatic was leveled directly at Daisy's breast. He took one shot to put the period to his tirade. Daisy with a look of cold recognition and colder hatred, without a groan, doubled up on the floor, her arms across Ed's body.

A big man bristled in, a revolver in his hand . . . Fightin' Jim Fitzpatrick's gun took the final toll of the Belmonte gang, leveling a surprised Guiseppe where he stood. "That's one rap you won't beat," he breathed. And Fightin' Jim made his way through the chaos of broken furniture and crumpled bodies, to the body of Ed, the last of his own flesh and blood.

"Mickey! Search the place for Mickey, men," he sobbed as tears choked him. But the order was unnecessary.

* * *

"Come here, Mickey boy," said big Jim, bending over Ed and holding his left arm for his son. "Come here—while I pin my star on a man who died as a copper wants to die—his duty, Mickey, was his honor."

GRIFFITH SEES NO GREAT CATCHERS

FINDING A FIRST-CLASS catcher continues to be the hardest task in baseball. With a reasonable amount of effort and money you may get satisfactory material for all the other positions on a ball club, but you can scour the country and pay fancy prices right and left without being able to fill a hole behind the bat in a way that will leave nothing to be desired.

Clark Griffith

A year or two back it looked as if the catching famine was about over. A number of youngsters of exceptional promise had come into the majors, such as Bill Dickey, Roy Spencer, Alfonso Lopez, Rick Ferrell and a few others, and signs indicated that one of those rare periods had arrived in which the grade of backstopping would be high all around. But evidently the crop did not pan out according to expectations, for now comes Clark Griffith, Washington president, to take the floor and declare that first-class catchers still are the scarcest articles in baseball.

GRIFFITH GOES SO far as to assert that there isn't a first-class catcher in the major leagues. And in making that statement he isn't overlooking Mickey Cochrane. He holds that the maskman of the A's, whom some critics have mentioned in all-time catcher discussions, is overrated. One of the best of the present lot, Griff insists, is his own first-string man, Roy Spencer, who once wore Pirate livery.

"Really, there isn't a great catcher in the majors these days," the head of the Senators said in announcing he had been trying in vain to land another serviceable receiver. "There are some good ones, of course, but altogether the present crop of catchers is about the poorest I have seen in the big leagues in many years.

"WE HAVE ONE of the few good ones in the American League in Spencer. I consider Dickey, of the Yankees, a good man, too, probably the best catcher in our league. Cochrane I regard as overrated, though he excels most of the others in the circuit. And at that, the Cardinals certainly showed him up in the world series last fall.

"Yes, sir, the catchers have slipped, and slipped considerably. There's none around of the type seen back of the bat before the World War. We had real catchers then—catchers who handled pitchers well, held runners to bases, threw strongly and shrewdly, and were excellent receivers. Too bad we haven't a few around now. My club certainly could use one."

WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY'S fourth annual indoor track and field meet, scheduled for the afternoon and night of February 13 in Morgantown, has aroused unusual interest among athletes in the Pittsburgh district because the program includes an event that is not confined to collegians. It is the special A. M. A. senior championship 1,000-yard run, open to all registered amateurs and furnishing some pre-season competition for distance runners who will try out for the 1,000 meters event in the Olympic Games. It is expected that a large number of speeders from this section will compete. The only W. Va. U. entrant to date is Mickey Brand, star distance runner for the Mountaineers for the last three years. The race will be run on a dirt track, on which spiked shoes may be used. John T. Taylor, who is to act as starter for all races, is receiving entries for the special event at A. A. U. headquarters here.

Leon Chagnon

THE PIRATES WILL have their smallest spring training squad in many years when Manager George Gibson completes the work of cutting loose the excess baggage. The latest releases, which sent Infielder George Grantham to the Reds and Pitcher Leon Chagnon and Outfielder Jimmy Mosolf to the Missions in the Coast League under option, reduces the Buccaneer roster to 30 players.

As now made up, the roster shows the names of 15 pitchers, three catchers, six infielders and six outfielders. There may be a further reduction later, even if the deal on which Manager Gibson has been working in the East for a new infielder goes through, as it is understood the Pirates are to give up more than one player in that transaction.

OTHER PASTIMES MAY draw larger crowds of spectators, but there is no question as to what is the most popular sport, as measured by the number of persons playing it for their own recreation and physical benefits. Golf is running alone.

Reports and estimates that have come into the office of Herbert H. Ramsay, president of the United States Golf Association, show that there are 6,000 private golf or country clubs in the nation, 500 municipal courses, and more than 2,000,000 players who will use 30,000,000 golf balls this year.

AN EFFORT IS being made to get Chick Salador, famous basketball referee of the American League, to officiate at the game in Motor Square Garden one week from tomorrow night between the Rosenblum Celtics and the Brooklyn Americans. If the services of that colorful official cannot be obtained, the contest will be handled by Dave Kerr and Moon Klinzing. In the laying out of Motor Square Garden for the game, provision has been made for a court 40x75 feet. Promoter Johnny Freund is planning an added feature for the afternoon of Saturday, February 13, at Motor Square Garden or Duquesne University gym. He intends to have the Rosies first play an exhibition game for the scholastic players of the district and then permit themselves to be interviewed by the school boys on all basketball points on which the youngsters may desire any information.

MANAGERS AND PLAYERS in the American Association continue to express the opinion that the Pittsburgh club made a fine pick-up in getting Pitcher Bill Swift from the Kansas City club. They insist that the new Pirate has as much blaze to his fast ball as Lefty Grove had when he first came up.

Dutch Zwilling, under whose managership Swift pitched for Kansas City, is one of Bill's strongest boosters. "Batters have a lot of trouble with Swift's fast ball because of the ease with which he sends it up," Zwilling said. "He puts very little effort into the pitch, seemingly, but the ball is on top of the batter before the latter realizes it.

"SWIFT IS PRACTICALLY unhittable on days when his fast ball is hopping. It's nothing for him to strike out a dozen batters in a nine-inning game. But when he hasn't his speed he's easy to crown. He hasn't much of a curve yet, and no change of pace.

"Bill is a big husk, has fine control and is easy going. Under a smart coach of pitchers, like Gibson, he ought to learn all the rest of it, and I'll be greatly surprised if he doesn't make good from the start."

Albert Brachme

THOUGH THE DANGERS of bobsledding have been made evident at Lake Placid by mishaps in which six German riders were injured, one of them, Albert Brachme, brakeman on the four-man bob, being still in a dangerous condition, the lure of the sport is said to be so strong that numerous additions to the ranks of its enthusiasts in this country may be expected within the next year. Aviators and drivers of racing automobiles who have also piloted a racing bobsled declare the exhilaration far surpasses the thrills associated with their accustomed sports. The sensation of speed, it is explained, depends upon proximity to the surface, and the closer you sit to the ground or water the greater the thrills. A bobsled gets you nearer to the surface medium than any other racing machine, and racers say that the only thing to compare with it in speed thrills is piloting one of the fastest motorboats.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

GAMES TONIGHT

Montreal Maroons at Montreal Canadiens.
Boston at New York Americans.

RESULT LAST NIGHT

Chicago 3—Toronto 0

By CARL W. SHATTO

If the Yellow Jackets and Windsor Bulldogs keep in step, the local skaters will down the International Hockey League champions when they meet on Duquesne Garden ice tonight.

The Jackets have made three appearances in Windsor and lost three games there. The Bulldogs have been here twice this season, and local fans have yet to see them score a goal. They were humbled, 5-0, on the occasion of their first visit, and a 2-0 trouncing was their reward for their last trip here.

TRADE HELD UP

Len Grosvenor, big forward from the Ottawa National League team (via the Bronx Canadian-American loop club), who was supposed to come here in exchange for Eddie Rodden, will not make his appearance in the Yellow Jacket lineup tonight.

Charley Reid, coach of the locals, today said that an unexpected hitch in the deal had developed through the action of the New York Americans, with which Grosvenor played early this season. He expects to have the trouble ironed out, and have Grosvenor on hand when London comes here Saturday.

Gordon (Sonny Boy) Baxter, goalie obtained from Cleveland to guard the Pittsburgh cage until Abbie Cox is able to again don the pads, will be in the Jacket nets. Cox suffered a concussion of the lower vertebrae in Detroit Sunday night, and will not be able to return to the lineup until next week. This means that Baxter will be back in the cage when the London Tecumsehs come here Saturday.

One of Windsor's new performers is not exactly a newcomer. The Montreal Maroons recently sent Johnny Gallagher, defense man, and Earl Robinson, forward, to Windsor to give the faltering Bulldogs a brace. In view of the fact that Robinson paced the International loop in scoring last season, local fans probably won't have to sprain any brain cells to remember him.

LAST BIG CHANCE

If the Yellow Jackets get out of step and lose tonight their chances of getting into the title playoffs will be virtually hopeless. A Pittsburgh defeat would mean that the locals would have to win 13 of their remaining 19 games to gain the charmed circle even if Windsor and London got nothing better than an even break in their remaining starts. And Syracuse, too, probably should be given some consideration. The Stars have won six in a row, and show no signs of a letup.

In Haynes, the Roche brothers and Robinson the Bulldogs have some of the best goal-getters in the league. Baxter is likely to have plenty of opportunity to show what he can do at guarding a cage. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh.		Windsor.
Baxter	G	Kerr
Fraser	D	Brown
Heise	D	Gallagher
Fields	C	Haynes
Proudlock	W	Duguid
Gregg	W	Robinson

Spares: Pittsburgh—Locking, T. Arbour, Dunning, Miller, Romnes, Barton. Maple, Windsor—D. Roche, E. Roche, Lever, Phillips, Ouellette, Huggins, J. Arbour.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: COMMODORE JOSEPH H. TRASK—Beginning his career as a mate in the old clipper-ship era, Commodore Trask has sailed 2,325,760 miles. He was master of the S. S. Sierra, on which approximately 2,000,000 miles of his record run were covered. The record covers a period of 38 years, during which Capt. Trask missed only three regular voyages over the route between San Francisco and Sydney, Australia, due to temporary changes of command, not illness. In all this experience he never has had an accident involving the life of a single passenger.

BUCS RELEASE INFIELDER IN CASH DEAL

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

George Farley (Boots) Grantham, Pirate secondbaseman and firstbaseman for the past seven years, today was sold to the Cincinnati Reds. In making the announcement of the transaction at noon, Secretary Sam Watters, of the home team, did not divulge the amount of cash received for the veteran, but it is known that the sum was less than $10,000.

George Grantham

The deal was completed at the Pittsburgh offices by President Sidney Weil, of the Cincinnati Club, and Manager George Gibson and Secretary Watters, of the Buccos.

Weil and Gibson arrived in the city this morning after taking part in the February meeting in New York. The two met with Watters and soon the deal was closed. The fact that the Pittsburgh club did not secure at least one player for Grantham will disappoint Pirate followers.

DEAL NO SURPRISE

But the news of the passing of Boots will not cause much surprise in this neighborhood. It was an open secret that he was on the block, his loose play of last season causing the local officials to negotiate for deals involving him. The Pittsburgh owners regretted that few clubs cared to dicker for the Arizona speedboy, who still is a comparatively young player.

One of the swiftest runners in baseball, George also was a great batsman, but his spirit was not of the sort to excite his managers or fellow players. Popular with his buddies, Grantham's easy manner militated against his success on the diamond, yet his play had considerable to do with the winning of Pirate flags in 1925 and 1927.

Grantham came to the Pirates in the famous six-player deal between the Buccos and Cubs in the winter of 1924. The Bruin owners had some stars whom they wished to trade; the same feeling existed in the minds of the Pittsburgh officials, and the baseball world sensed a big thrill when five luminaries changed battle togs.

CAME HERE FROM CUBS

The big swap sent Shortstop Walter (Rabbit) Maranville, Firstbaseman Charley (Lefty) Grimm and Pitcher Wilbur Cooper to the Bears in exchange for Grantham, Pitcher Victor Aldridge and Firstbaseman Albert Neihaus, a recruit.

Neihaus died within the last year. Up from the Southern Association where he had been a brilliant hitter and good firstbaseman, Al jumped off poorly as a Pirate and eventually he made way for Grantham at first base.

In his career with the Cubs, Grantham had been a secondbaseman, but his fielding at times was ragged and George found it hard to iron out his defensive troubles as he moved along in the game. At times around second he would make plays that would defy stars like Frisch and Critz, but on the run-of-mine variety he frequently would stumble around.

ILLINOIS PASSES BOXING BILL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 4.—(INS.)—The bill permitting 15-round heavyweight championship bouts in Illinois, passed by the Senate several weeks ago and by the House yesterday, was to be returned to the Senate today for concurrence in amendments.

The bill applies to heavyweight bouts for the championship only, and all other bouts are limited to 10 rounds, as at present.

DUKE PHARMICS PLAY PHILLY

The Pharmic team, representing Duquesne University's School of Pharmacy, will oppose the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Duke gym, in their fourth annual battle. Duquesne University High meets Turtle Creek High in a 7 o'clock preliminary.

After playing the Dukes, the Philadelphia team meets St. Francis College at Loretta on Saturday night.

Pitt-W. & J. Football Negotiations Held Up

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—Washington and Jefferson College can get back on the Pitt football schedule just as soon as the Presidents provide suitable accommodations for staging a game here. This is the assurance given Acting Manager Henry by Athletic Manager W. Don Harrison, of Pitt, who says the Panthers are anxious and willing to play Wash-Jeff. It would even be possible, it is learned, to schedule a W. & J.-Pitt contest for 1932, if the Presidents had a place to play.

SCHAEFER TOPS GUS COPULOS

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Jake Schaefer, of San Francisco, set back Gus Copulos, of Eugene, Ore., in the world three-cushion billiard championship ranking last night, by winning their match, 50 to 21, in 32 innings.

Bud Westhus, of St. Louis, shoved the veteran Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, deeper in the cellar by defeating him, 50 to 34, in 60 innings.

Allen Hall, of Chicago, defeated Jay Bozeman, of Vallejo, Cal., 50 to 40, in 40 innings.

PHILS SIGN MALLON

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Leslie Mallon says he has signed the 1932 contract offered him by the Philadelphia Nationals. Mallon, previously reported to be a holdout, played second base and served as a pinch hitter with the Phillies last season.

Fight Results

At Moose Temple—Guy Salerno won on technical knockout over Jocko Walters, 6 rounds; Charley Baxter defeated Eddie Brannon, 10 rounds; Carl Montebano defeated Anson Green, 6 rounds; Max Elling won referee's decision over Jimmy Vaughn, 6 rounds.

At Detroit—Frankie Donnelly defeated Franklin Young, 10 rounds.

At San Francisco—Joe Conde defeated Charley Miller, 10 rounds; Lew Savin knocked out (technical) Cowboy Brooks, 5 rounds.

Topeka Is Moved To Wichita Venue

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Frank Isbell, former owner of the Des Moines and Wichita franchises of the Western League, has announced he has taken over the Topeka, Kan., club and will move it to Wichita, made vacant by the removal of that baseball club to Tulsa, Okla.

SAM WATTERS ON RADIO

Samuel E. Watters, secretary of the Pirates, gave baseball fans a rare treat last night as he divulged the joys and sorrows of his work as a bright feature of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's weekly sports department broadcast on Station WCAE.

Sam has been connected with the Pirates in an official capacity for almost 25 years, so that he has many and vari-colored incidents to relate when he gets in front of a "mike." He was interviewed by Charles J. (Chilly) Doyle, baseball writer.

PIET REMAINS HOLDOUT

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Tony Piet, of Chicago, leading candidate for the second base position on the Pittsburgh National League Club, has returned five unsigned contracts to headquarters, it developed today.

Piet was one of the sensations of the Western League last season as he starred for Wichita after being recalled and batted better than .300 in these games, besides starring on the bases and in the field.

"After sending my contract back five times I still can't come to terms. They are trying to sign me on a minor league salary," Piet said.

GUY SALERNO STOPS WALTERS

JACK PERRY'S COAST ACE A 'FIND'

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

If you have any raves to rave rave them for Jack Perry's middleweight fighter from Los Angeles Guy Salerno. He's plenty fighter and a pip of a boxer, too. You can kick it around and not half tell the story of the auspicious local debut of the tall, rangy Italian youth, who took the fans by storm with his classy exhibition in the windup at the Moose Temple downtown, last night, when he won by a technical knockout over tough Jocko Walters, Springfield (O.) Negro, in the sixth round. Referee Red Robinson had to halt the slaughter with Walters bobbing helplessly on the ropes, his face punched to a gory pulp.

A dramatic touch was put to the finish when Walters, after the thing had been halted to save him, moved to the center of the ring and took a swing at his opponent and then at the referee and struggled hysterically to be permitted to continue. He finally was pinned against the ropes and held by Robinson and quieted down when a policeman moved into the ring to restore order.

NERVOUS AT START

The fans who had seen this same Walters (twice batter Pal Silvers, of New York, around the Moose ring last year stopping him in the second bout, marveled at the speed and agility and looseness and coolness and all-round class of the towering Salerno as he alternately boxed and slugged his way to victory, taking Walters best punches in close and in exchanges punching the Negro back on the defensive. And they hailed him at the finish in such a manner that his future as a card is assured if he remains here. This is his first stop since he left the Coast and Perry plans to work him gradually into New York. He's ready now so far as that is concerned.

As keyed up and nervous as a high-spirited racing thoroughbred at the post, Salerno danced and pranced and bobbed about from the moment he entered the ring until the bell rang for the opening round, so much so, in fact, that the fans themselves became nervous watching him and some of them began to kid him about it. Their kidding turned to approbation, however, the moment he stepped into fighting action.

HURT IN SECOND

Salerno was carrying his hands low when Jocko nailed him with a right to the jaw early in the second round and there were some anxious moments as the Coast star covered on the ropes and weathered a storm that followed. Once out in the clear, however, he staggered Walters with his own right and then unloosed a flock of leather that must have reminded Walters of a cyclone. It brought the crowd up standing in a frenzy and the bell was a welcome sound for Walters, dizzy from the onslaught.

Then Salerno shifted his tactics. He slowed down his pace and broke ground and let Walters force the fighting and gain an edge in each of the next two rounds. Gaining confidence, Walters came tearing out for the sixth round swinging with both fists. This seemingly was what Salerno wanted, for he stepped in decisively and dropped his man with a straight right to the jaw. Walters staggered up at the count of one and Salerno, scenting the kill, forced him to the ropes, where he peppered away with both fists.

BOUT IS STOPPED

Walters couldn't get away and couldn't get his hands up to defend himself. All he could do was to try to ride the flow of punches. Gradually he sagged lower and lower against the strands and finally the referee stepped in to push Salerno back and noticed the havoc wrought by the latter's punches whereupon he stopped the fight with the fans wildly acclaiming the victor and Manager Jack Perry, a former local welterweight favorite, beaming in the corner. The round lasted 1 minute 18 seconds.

Salerno weighed 158 pounds and Walters was a pound heavier at 3 p. m.

GREEN'S JAW BROKEN

Charley Baxter of the [illegible]th Side, 136, administered a severe body beating to Eddie Brannon, Hill Negro, 138, in the first 10-round bout and all but knocked him out in the final round, when a right to the body floored Eddie for a count of nine and a follow-up barrage found Brannon lasting to a dizzy finish only through the medium of desperate clinching. Baxter won every round in impressive fashion.

Alson Green, Homestead Negro, 156, was taken to the Passavant Hospital, suffering from a broken jaw, following his defeat by Carl Montebano of Braddock, 160½, in the six-round second bout. It was said he would be allowed to return to his home today.

Max Elling, of the Hill, 147½, won the referee's decision over Jimmy Vaughn, of St. Michael's, in the six-round opener. It was a hard, close fight, with the verdict being booed by many of the fans.

Freddie Lux and Frank Ferris were judges, Tommy Grant did the timing and Harry Klaas the announcing, with Dr. M. R. Goldman the commission physician.

JOCKO WALTERS REFEREE ROBINSON GUY SALERNO

Referee Robinson herding technically-knocked-out Walters against the ropes when the latter tried to continue the fighting after the windup at the Moose Temple last night had to be stopped in the sixth round to save him. Salerno, the victor, a newcomer from California, created a sensation with his masterly boxing and punching exhibition, winning handily.

Jack Sheppard Dies; Local Sports Figure

Jack Sheppard is dead. His real name was Robert D. Sheppard, but everyone knew him as Jack. For years his hotel in Sixth street, below Penn avenue, was a favorite stopping place for theatrical folks and sporting notables. With the late John Newell, the beneficent host of Newell's Hotel in Fifth avenue, now just a memory, here was Pittsburgh's best known hotel man from coast to coast.

A victim of Bright's disease, Robert Sheppard passed on in St. John's Hospital last night, aged 63, and survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Hovan Sheppard. He had been retired since prohibition came in and resided at 5840 Center avenue.

FORMER UMPIRE

Prior to coming to Pittsburgh from his native Wheeling, W. Va., Sheppard was a good third baseman and later an umpire in the original Tri-State League in which were such fine players as Ed Delehanty, Jack Glasscock and Dick Padden. Wheeling, Mansfield and the Twin Cities were among the towns in the circuit. Al Buckenberger, later manager of the Pirates, was manager of the Wheeling club, followed by Ed Barrow, now of the New York Yankees, and former International League president.

Just before the start of the present century, Sheppard came to Pittsburgh, and with Barrow, tended bar in a hotel here. Rube Waddell, the great southpaw, was employed in a similar capacity in another place here.

FAMOUS HOTELMAN

In due time Sheppard opened a place of business in Fifth avenue at Bouquet street, which soon became a rendezvous for men of the sporting realm. From there he moved to his place downtown, where the leading theatrical men of the time stopped. Included among them were McIntyre and Heath and others of their standing. The place was decorated inside with autographed photographs of the stars of the profession.

Mine Host Sheppard himself was a bit of a hand on the stage and for years served as interlocutor for the Elks' minstrel shows. He also was captain of the Duquesne Fishing Club, which made annual pilgrimages to its grounds at Put-in-Bay, O.

OLYMPIC GAMES UNDER WAY

TODAY'S PROGRAM

10:30 A. M.—500-meter speed skating trials.
11:00 A. M.—Hockey: United States vs. Canada.
2:45 P. M.—5,000-meter speed skating trials.
5:00 P. M.—Hockey: Germany vs. Poland.
5:00 P. M.—5,000-meter speed skating finals.

OLYMPIC STADIUM, LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Against a sparkling background of snow and ice, the lofty peaks of the Adirondacks frowning from the distance, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, officially opened the 1932 Olympic winter games to 331 athletes of 17 nations at 10:30 a. m. today.

As a lusty brass band blared the anthems of the foreign lands, and a crowd of 5,000 in the open air stands cheered, the competitors in the alphabetical order of nations, flags flying at the head, marched around the 400-meter ice surface of the skating track.

Jack Shea, American speed skater, then took the Olympic oath for all the athletes and the ice was cleared for the 500-meter dash, first even of the program.

Shea's time today was 43 4-10 second equaling the mark of both Evensen and Thunburg in the games in Switzerland. Every best time in the speed races of the 1932 games become Olympic records inasmuch as the races never before have been raced American style, man-to-man, instead of the European system of skating against time.

Shea's win gave the hosts of the international games a lead in the unofficial point score with 11 points, 10 by Shea's first. Canada gathered nine by bunching three finalists and Evensen's second gave Norway 5. The summary:

First heat—Won by Frank Black, Canada; second, Jack Shea, U. S. A.; third, Shoza Ishikawa, Japan; fourth, Erling Lindow, Norway. Fifth, Takeo Kawamura, Japan. Time, 44 2-10 seconds.

Second heat—Won by Bernt Evensen, Norway; Bill Logan, Canada; third, Ray Murray, U. S. A.; fourth, Tokio Kotani, Japan; fifth, Leo Sylvestre, Canada. Time, 44 4-10 seconds.

Third heat—Won by Alex Hurd, Canada; second, O'Neil Farrell, U. S. A.; third, Allan Potts, U. S. A.; fourth, Haakon Fredersen, Norway; fifth, Hans Engnestangen, Norway. Time, 44 9-10 seconds.

500-meters final—Won by Jack Shea, United States; second, Bernt Evensen, Norway; third, Alex Hurd, Canada; fourth, Frank Black, Canada; fifth, Bill Logan, Canada; sixth, O'Neil Farrell, United States. Time, 43 4-10 seconds.

Action Next Week On Pro Tournament

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The proposal of the Pittsburgh Field Club to stage the Professional Golfers' Association of America tournament on its course this summer will be placed before the executive committee at a meeting to e held nxt week, A. R. Gates, business manager of the pros, said here today.

JONES, PAVLICK ON SCENE

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Billy Jones and George Pavlick arrived in town today to complete their workouts for their 10-round main bout in Eddie Kapphan's new arena in Center avenue tomorrow night. Jones, leading contender for the world light-heavyweight championship, was to train in the Negro Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and Pavlick at the Pittsburgh Lyceum.

Mose Butch, local bantamweight, who recently dropped a peg or two in the fistic social scale when he lost a 10-round decision to Jimmy Thomas at Motor Square Garden, will begin a campaign to get back on top next Wednesday night, when he meets Lou Farber, of New York, in the main bout at the Moose Temple. Davy Grove and Roger Brooks, the latter of Cleveland, will meet in the semi-final.

The fans will get a good run for their money in the Detroit Olympia arena tomorrow night, when Battling Gizzy meets Eddie Lord and Tommy Paul opposes Pete DeGrasse in the 10-round semi-final. A heavyweight "beef trust" tourney of seven bouts makes up the preliminary card and the prices are 50 cents, $1 and $2.

Between Rounds

Willie Davies broke Tommy Gibb's nose in the main bout at Fairmont, W. Va., tonight. Gibb, with Frankie Reiss and Battling Shields meeting for the third time in the semi-final.

Sammy Paris, Hill bantamweight, showed better fighting form in his battle with Johnny Wagner at the Garden the other night after a layoff of more than two months. Let him work time and rates more bouts on the strength of that display. He picked up some tricks of conserving and delighting during his campaigning in Texas, and that have made him an improved fighter.

Silver Montini, Aliquippa middleweight, and Frankie Portland, Ambridge lightweight, are ready for action and may be reached through Ray Eberle, the announcer, who, however, is not their manager.

Jack Delaney, former world light-heavyweight champion, begins a comeback campaign against Paul Cavalier at Paterson, N. J., February 25.

Jules Rock needs only a second bout to confirm his card for the Garden next Monday night. He has Joe Galento, the heavyweight, who stopped George Parsos in a punch against Nate Brown in the wrong, Lou Pala and Harold Brazier, in the semi-final and Tom Hanson and Jerry Hart, beavies in the opener.

Bill Klaas and Tony Delgatto, who won the heavyweight and light-heavyweight titles respectively in the recent A. A. U. junior championship tournament at the Keystone A. C., will box the main bout of a benefit amateur show for the unemployed of the Twenty-first Ward, under the auspices of the North Side Board of Trade, in St. Andrew's Lyceum, February 16. Eddie McKeever is the matchmaker.

Charley Cervatto, of Uniontown, has been invited to meet Eddie Flynn, of New Orleans, national champion, in a benefit amateur show in Madison Square Garden, New York, next Wednesday night.

Tony Marino and Franklin Young, Detroit Negro flyweight, will box the main bout at McKeesport one week from tonight.

Joe Thomas, Chicago fair[illegible]weight, now making his headquarters here, is more than anxious to fight Battling Shires and says he'll take the match anywhere.

Jimmy Loiaro, Mcfeesport lynch featherweight, wants to box Fritzie Zivic. In other words, he says Fritzie may consider this as a challenge.—HARRY KECK.

DISPATCH GIRLS WIN

The Dispatch girls' bowling team defeated the St. George team last night, 2,001 to 1,922. Miss Kain was the star of the match. The Dispatch girls will bowl Brookline on Saturday and Donora on the Dispatch alleys on February 13.

D. & E. IS BOOKED

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Davis and Elkins College will meet St. Vincent College in football at Latrobe, Pa., Thanksgiving Day, it has been announced. The teams met at Latrobe last year, the Benedictine winning, 12 to 0.

AKRON ARRIVES HERE SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS

Commissioner Sam Park announced today that the Akron Goodyears, national amateur champions, will arrive by bus Sunday. They will meet the Shannon Morrys in the western semi-final round of the national cup the same afternoon at South Park.

The national champions will be taken to Castle Shannon, where they will have lunch before leaving for the game. It is possible Chairman Bill Angus and Secretary Johnny McEwan, of Cleveland, will be here for the game.

The cup committee has agreed upon Pete McArdle as referee, with Pat O'Conner and Trysull Evans as linesmen.

South Park officials are taking great pains to have the grounds in good shape for the battle. The present goalposts are iron tubes so, to forestall a possible protest by the Rubber town aggregation, these are to be encased in five-inch regulation boxes.

The game will be called at 2:30 sharp, and the full police force of the South County Park will be on hand to handle what promises to be a record crowd.

Y. M. H. A. FIVE HOST

The Y. M. H. A. basketball team will meet the Cumberland K. of C. passers in a game on the Y. floor tonight. Kingsley House will oppose the Varsity B. team of the Y. in a preliminary game.

KINGFISH TO BOX JACK

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—King Levinsky will meet Jack Dempsey in a four-round bout here February 16, promoters announced today. Levinsky will receive $7,000.

THREE IN TIE FOR SCORING LAURELS

By JULIUS LEVIN

Thomas, of Munhall, Radvansky, of Duquesne, and Borgan, of Homestead, are deadlocked for first place in the individual scoring race in Section VII, of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League. Each of the trio shows a total of 42 points for league competition.

Thomas, who was inactive Tuesday, has 14 field goals and the same number of fouls. Radvansky shows 13 field goals and 16 fouls, while Borgan has 19 field goals and four fouls.

Malackney, Rankin High star, holds undisputed possession of first place in the Section VIII scoring race with a total of 34 points. This total represents 15 field goals and four fouls. Dilucente, also of Rankin, is next on the list with 30 points as a result of scoring 12 field goals and a half dozen fouls. The scoring records follow:

PIRATES SELL GRANTHAM

man. Boots showed the same characteristics around the gateway post—he would emulate a star on tough chances and then would fall into the debit side on easy opportunities.

GEORGE HARD HITTER

George, nevertheless, delivered many a winning punch for the Pirates in his seven years' service. But when Gus Suhr became a Bucco, Grantham had little chance to cavort around first base, although he seemed to favor this position. Manager Jewel Ens assigned the speedbody to second, but his fielding did not improve.

Grantham played in more than 100 games in each of his seven years as a Pirebooter. And he batted better than .300 in each of his years. George rose to his highest batting form in 1925, when he hit for .336. He was a fine baserunner, his best accomplishment in this offensive department being noted in his first full year with the Cubs. He stole 43 bases in that season.

The Phoenix flier is aged 31. Born in Kansas he began his diamond career with Tacoma, of the Pacific International League, in 1920. The Cubs purchased him from Omaha in 1922 and he remained in Chicago until traded to Pittsburgh.

TWO PIRATES FARMED

Outfielder James Mosolf and Pitcher Leon Chagnon, two impressive members of the Pirate rookie brigade, have been farmed out to the San Francisco Missions of the Pacific Coast League, Pittsburgh officials announced.

Mosolf and Chagnon have had Pirate connections for several years. Manager Gibson was pleased to place them under the care of Joe Devine, who is the manager of the Mission team. Mosolf has had little chance to shine as a Bucco and the decision to farm him should benefit him. Chagnon won 20 and lost 10 games last year for Fort Worth, of the Texas League.

Hogan Not Assured Of Waynesburg Job

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 4.—Reports that Ralph Hogan, basketball coach at Carnegie Tech, had been assured the position of grid coach at Waynesburg College next fall were branded as premature by James Miller, faculty director of athletics at Waynesburg, today. Miller said that Hogan conferred with President Stewart last week, but that no recommendations have been made to the board of trustees, who have full power in the matter.

Tom Aycock Scores Seven Consecutive Birdies for 64

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP.)—Tommy Aycock, former national intercollegiate and Florida state amateur golf champion, and present city champion, clicked off seven consecutive birdies on the first nine here yesterday to set a new course record at the Timuquana Country Club with 29-35—64.

Edinboro at California.
D. & E. vs. Charleston Collegians at Charleston.
Western Maryland at Georgetown.

By JESS CARVER

The orbits of two of our more fiery college basketball mentors cross tonight at Beaver Falls when Geneva and Grove City clash in an important Tri-State Conference tussle. The game would be well worth tootin' whether it was a league tussle or not, for meetings in any branch of sport between Geneva and Grove City always are attended by a maximum of fireworks.

Messrs. Ken Loeffler and Bob Thorn, the respective coaches, are not noted as pacifists. They rank along with Red Carlson and Chick Davies as members of the Fraternal Order of Wild Men. They get on the officials no matter if they're 20 points ahead and, under ordinary circumstances, you can hear their bellows of rage all over the hall. They are worth, in other words, the price of admission.

CONTEST A TOSS-UP

A win tonight for the Grovers will put them in a fine spot. So far they have played and won one conference game, having beaten Westminster. Geneva has captured four out of five starts, and can slip into the lead by knocking off the Crimsons. Grove City, with two victories and no defeats, and with the majority of its remaining Conference tussles booked on its own floor, will be a mighty tough team to displace if it can get by with a victory tonight.

As a wagering proposition, the contest is a toss-up. The Covenanters will have a slight advantage by being more familiar with the new and big, plenty big, Beaver Falls High School floor, but that about comprises the difference between 'em.

As a matter of information, following is an up to date Conference standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Grove City	1	0	1.000	Waynesburg	1	1	.500
Geneva	1	1	.500	Bethany	0	1	.000
Westminster	1	1	.500	Thiel	0	1	.000

Forbes

Old Opponents Veering Round to Sales Tax

By B. C. FORBES

TAXES, TAXES everywhere. Washington proposes a bewildering variety of "nuisance" taxes, stiffer taxes on both high and low incomes, taxes on this, that and the next commodity, total taxes harder to bear than those raised during the war-time boom.

Mr. Forbes

New York State legislators are similarly busy planning additional burdens, including a 6 per cent tax on large incomes. Other states as well as municipalities, paying the piper for reckless extravagance, are devising ways and means to extract more money from the pockets of harassed, and often embarassed, taxpayers.

I find that opposition to an intelligently-formulated general sales tax is subsiding and that many, formerly skeptical, now regard such a measure as distinctly preferable to many other money-raising plans favored by tax-leviers.

The right kind of sales tax would not constitute a heavy burden on any one class and would greatly broaden the present taxation base, it is now admitted by many who formerly thought it would be feasible to raise sufficient governmental income without resorting to that expedient.

GENERAL MOTORS directors fulfilled expectations by cutting the quarterly dividend from 75 to 50 cents. Even on the $2 annual rate the income yield at current quotations is not far from 10 per cent, surely a generous return even in these days of security bargains.

Public-spiritedness is not dead. One citizen of Manchester, N. H., has come forward and lent his community $500,000.

This citizen is Frederic C. Dumaine. Few men of Mr. Dumaine's influence and eminence in the business world are as little known nationally. New England and high ups in New York have long recognized Mr. Dumaine as a genius. He has exhibited extraordinary aptitude for pulling business concerns out of trouble.

Not only is he head of a large cotton manufacturing company, but he is an influential director in the New Haven Railroad, half a dozen steamship companies, Old Colony Trust Company, insurance and oil companies.

Mr. Dumaine, who is 66, is of the quiet, unostentatious type, a splendid example of the capable business leaders New England long ago was more famous for producing than any other part of America.

JAPAN HAD MANY powerful friends in this country from J. P. Morgan & Co., all along the line. Her shocking conduct at Shanghai has inflamed their indignation. A Japanese gentleman who made a talk to a large group of New York banking men, anxious to explain away his country's action, experienced a most chilly reception. Japan need not ask loans here.

"Weep and the world weeps with you, laugh and you laugh alone."

J. E. Trask, of Casper, Wyo., writes:

"A fire extinguisher salesman connived with a western farmer to invite all the neighbors to meet at the farm and witness a spectacular fire extinguishing demonstration. They would book a lot of orders for extinguishers and split the profits. After serving a free lunch, the salesman dashed a cupful of gasoline against the side of a grainstack, applied a match, and proceeded to demonstrate how quickly his fire extinguisher would put out the fire. But alas, he had forgotten to load it. Soon the grainstacks and building were roaring furnaces.

"The farmer pursued the fleeing salesman with his shotgun, but found he also had forgotten to load the shotgun.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Market Narrow — Local Market Quiet

STOCK MARKET FLUCTUATES NARROWLY

List Experiences Dullest Trading of Recent Years, While Traders Mark Time

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP.)—The securities markets fluctuated narrowly in the dullest trading in recent years today, as traders hopefully awaited signs of a seasonal pickup in industry.

Uncertainties surrounding the far eastern situation were still regarded as a brake on the markets, although Wall street was chiefly interested in the domestic situation and has not been inclined to become alarmed over "war" gossip.

In stocks, most of the leaders held close to yesterday's closing levels. Trading was so slow that there were long halts in the movement of the ticker tape. The market seemed to display a fairly firm tone during the morning, but eased off after midday, when United States Steel, American Telephone, Case, International Harvester, Union Pacific and Santa Fe lost about a point, and several leaders sagged fractionally. Some issues held up a point or so, including the New York Tractions, Real Silk Hosiery, J. C. Penney, Safeway and a few others. General Motors was about steady, despite the dividend reduction.

Inasmuch as downward readjustments of dividends usually are most pronounced at the fag end of a depression, and often continue after the turn of the trend, Wall street is taking dividend cuts philosophically.

Atlas Powder's slashing its dividend rate to $2.00 from $4.00 scarcely indicated that the management placed any credence in the recent talk of a "war boom." Homestake Mining's ordering of a $1.00 extra was another indication of how gold mining thrives on depression, for when general commodity prices fall, the value of gold increases.

Several quarters in the financial district are less concerned over possible shocks to American business from abroad than they have been in some time, feeling that slow progress may now be made here without serious interruption from Europe. One international brokerage house is actually describing England as "the brightest spot in the world economics picture at present," pointing out that the revenues of the British government last week exceeded expenses.

Seaboard Air Line Asks Moratorium

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 14—(INS.)—Petition for a three-year moratorium on approximately $15,000,000 in equipment trust securities and receivers' certificates has been filed by receivers of the Seaboard Air Line Railway in Federal Court.

Under the plan proposed, the $15,000,000, which becomes due during the next three years, would be refunded by a like amount of receivers' certificates bearing 5 per cent interest, and due in February, 1935.

January Raw Silk Imports Increase

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Raw silk imports in January totaled 52,238 bales, compared with 50,617 in December and 49,194 in January, 1931. Deliveries to mills were 58,793 bales contrasted with 48,432 in the preceding month and 55,910 in 1931. Stocks at warehouses on January 31 were 62,905 bales compared with 51,814 on the same date last year.

Cigar Production Increased at Tampa

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 4.—Cigar factories in Tampa produced 27,020,473 cigars in January, an increase of 5,251,403 over the output in January, 1931. Of total output in January, 14,126,000 were Class A, or nickel cigars. Class C, or 8 to 15-cent cigars, accounted for 9,877,000 cigars.

Norfolk & Western Loadings Lower

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Revenue cars loaded on lines of Norfolk and Western Railway in January totaled 58,639, compared with 76,189 in January, 1931. Revenue cars received from connections amounted to 14,410, as against 21,380 in January, last year.

Lead Stocks Higher During January

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Total lead stocks in the United States on January 30, 1932, were 217,716 short tons, compared with 210,434 in the preceding month, and 188,744 tons a year ago, according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics.

POLITICAL RULE OF FINANCES ATTACKED

San Francisco Bond Price Fixing Perils 1,300 Jobs As Bankers Scorn Issue

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

SAN SIMEON, Cal., Feb. 4.—The current economic emergency has demonstrated the weakness of straitjacket political rules and regulation affecting financial arrangements.

For example, out here on the coast the useful employment of 1,300 men on the Coast Range tunnels at San Francisco may be stopped because of a technical blunder in the financial authorization. The ordinance requiring that the remaining outstanding $4,000,000 of Hetch Hetchy bonds be sold at par has proved the stumbling block. The qualification amounts to price fixing.

Mr. Rukeyser.

After San Francisco bankers had declined to buy any portion of the bonds under the circumstances, Charles K. McIntosh, president of the Bank of California and of the Clearing House Association, said:

"The bankers appreciate the city's plight. But this is not a matter in which the banks legally can assume the burden.

"The bond market is low, and if these bonds were bought at par, as the ordinance required, the banks would be compelled to write off the loss. They cannot do this. The loss, if there is to be one, must be met by the entire city."

The broader economic lesson from the incident is that all securities must be sold at the market, not an artificial price decreed by the city fathers. The law of supply and demand is inexorable and cannot be repealed by political fiat.

The martial spirit in the Orient at a time when the world is still staggering from its last major war, constitutes an indictment against the intelligence of the race. In a more civilized future the people will be able to grow pugnacious in a battle against poverty and want. An intelligently conceived public works campaign for social reconstruction and the re-employment of the idle would approach William James' conception of a moral equivalent of war.

Hungary Reduces Outstanding Debt

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Speyer & Co., as fiscal agents, purchased for the account of the Hungarian government during the fiscal year ended February 1, $517,500 of the 7½ per cent state loan of 1924 for cancellation through the sinking fund. Of an original issue of $9,000,000 bonds, there remain outstanding $6,797,600 bonds.

Sterling Reduces Texas Oil Output

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 4.—Output of Sterling has reduced the well allowable in the East Texas field to 75 barrels of oil daily from 130 barrels daily, effective tomorrow.

EMBERS OF LOVE -:- Story of a Pretty Girl in Whom Burned The Flame of a Great Emotion -:- By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

flop in old clothes, and Dad, working in Rufe Fletcher's store. . . ."

"How did you ever remember?" she laughed.

"How could I forget? You nearly drowned me, swimming. You swam so well for a girl. Do you still?"

"Yes—better!"

"How's your mother and father—and your sisters, and the boys?" he asked, and then forgot to listen while she answered. He didn't care what had happened to her funny family . . . Gosh, she was pretty! He thought he'd never get tired of looking at her. Her eyes were very far apart, very dark, but soft, shadowy. Her skin was the clear magnolia hue that had given her the nickname Lily Lou years ago when all the other children at the lake were freckled and tanned . . . Her nose was small and perfect; she had a beautifully molded and mobile mouth, a chiseled chin, and a white, full throat.

BEAUTY LAUDED

"My but you've gotten pretty! You're the prettiest girl I ever saw!" he exploded suddenly, interrupting her story of her brother John's wedding, and Earl's venture into the hay and grain business.

She laughed right out loud at that. The little stiffness that had been between them vanished.

They parted reluctantly. Looked for each other next morning on the boat.

Ken was a marvelous listener. He drank in every word that she told him about her singing, her plans for a future on the operatic stage. She glowed as she talked. She felt glamorous . . . conscious of the impression she was making, conscious of what he had said about her beauty.

"Gosh!" he said. "It seems funny in a way . . . little Lily Lou turning into a Brunhilde—"

"Oh, no! I'll never do that. I'm coloratura soprano. Butterfly, you know, and Marguerite, and the Snow Maiden, and Semiramide, and Juliet and Manon—I'd love to make my debut as Manon—mostly on account of the drama—and then right after it something big like Elisabeth, in Tannhauser, only I'm better in Traviatta really—"

"You'll be good in anything. They'll just have to look at you. You'll be another Geraldine Farrar . . . Gee, Lily Lou, I'll sure be at the stage door when you make your debut, even if I have to go to Milan or Berlin to do it!"

"I you don't like the chops you don't have to eat them," May said, hurt and angry at this slight to her cooking. "I'm sure I do my best. It isn't my fault if they are a little stringy. I have to take what they send me, and I haven't got all day to cook, you know!"

"Oh, May! I'm perfectly satisfied. I'm just—not hungry."

"Must be in love," Raymond guffawed.

"I hope not," May said, a little acidly, but she smiled. Love was at once a sore subject, and a standing joke. Raymond's younger sister, Irene, was always in love, always engaged in working on a hope chest that never seemed to get filled, and was never destined for long for the same bridegroom. May made no secret of the fact that she thought the bridegrooms were mostly in Irene's silly head. Raymond, secretly agreeing, never failed to resent his wife's slurs.

But tonight he smiled back, and May, softening, said a little more gently, "Well, I do wish you'd eat more, Lily Lou. I should think that trip across the bay would give you a real appetite."

Lily Lou shook her head. "Not tonight, thanks." She nibbled on a pickle, while the other two finished the evening meal. They ate it in the kitchen, in the breakfast nook, because it was quicker. Raymond was always tired and hungry after his long day at the automobile factory. May, out of the house at 7:25 every morning, in order to ride downtown with her husband, was reduced to one long yawn by night.

After the dishes were done Lily Lou went into the front room and sat down at the piano. The dreaming look came back into her eyes. Her slim, strong hands ran up the scale, each note clear, separate, evenly matched as the pearls in a necklace.

SINGS OF LOVE

"Plaisirs d' amour . . ."

May didn't know all the words, but she knew what they meant . . . plaisirs d'amour, the joys of love . . . Something about the joys of love lasting but a moment, but the memory and the pain lasting all one's life . . .

She sat up stiffly. "I wish Lily Lou wouldn't sing that!"

"Why, I thought it was real pretty," Raymond said, mildly.

May got up and began to move around the room, jerking misplaced furniture into place.

"I hate it. She never sang it before. Dad's sister used to sing it. You know how we always felt about Dad's family . . . Dad's good as gold, but the rest were . . . well, they were riff-raff, especially this aunt . . . She had the voice, just like Lily Lou, but she was too lazy to do anything with it. She ran away with a traveling man, and had a baby, and the man never married her. She came back finally, and kept house for Uncle Zeph, up in the mountains. She used to sing that . . . that miserable song—"

HEART ATWITTER

Raymond sucked on his pipe. After a while he smiled. "See now, you're afraid little Lily Lou's going to run off with a traveling man, is that it?"

Bang went the book May had held in her hand. "Raymond Kittridge, you make me SICK! Just because YOUR sister is a fool! . . You know perfectly well that Lily Lou doesn't care a thing about boys. She doesn't even know one . . . Oh, men! Always thinking of things like that!"

She sang on. Unconscious of them. Unconscious of everything, but the sweet, new pain that was in her heart.

By MARK HELLINGER

Party De Luxe

IN THE ZIEGFELD THEATER a rehearsal had just come to an end. I yawned, which is a habit I contracted when I first started to write columns.

"I'm tired," I informed Mr. Ziegfeld. "I'm going home to bed."

The Great Worryfier shook his head.

"Not yet," he asserted. "We're going to the Central Park Casino for just 10 or 15 minutes. Peggy and A. C. Blumenthal are giving a grand party for Billy Gaxton. We'll be the only ones not dressed, but they just phoned to ask us to come as we are. And we'll only stay 10 minutes, mind you."

Now it so happens that I like Peggy and A. C. Blumenthal. They are two swell people who, while they have a great deal of money, never bore you with the details. They seem to enjoy life. I think that, if I had millions, I would like to live as they do.

When we strolled into the main dining room of the Casino, we found sufficient celebrities to write a Hollywood gossip column. You like names? So: Pola Negri, Billie Dove, Peggy Joyce, Buddy Rogers, Bert Lahr, Elsie Janis, Lilyan Tashman, Joe Schenck, Dudley Field Malone, Howard Hughes, Leon Errol, Mary Duncan, Lou Holtz, Walter Wagner and—oh, what's the use of going on? It was one of the finest gatherings and one of the nicest parties the Blumenthals have ever given.

Soon Mayor Walker arrived and sat down at the table. I am always more than happy to be in the Mayor's company. An evening with him inevitably means that you will leave with more wit and more wisdom than you can gain from any other one man in the nation.

Soon Morton Downey took the floor and the entertainment started. Morton introduced Billy Gaxton. And Billy, in turn, introduced the various stars and big names in the assemblage. The applause was terrific as each artist took a bow or did a number.

I turned to Mr. Ziegfeld.

"When do we leave?" I asked him.

"In 10 minutes," he replied . . .

After a while, Mr. Gaxton called on Earl Carroll. Mr. Carroll seemed strangely pallied as he took the floor.

He said a few words that were both gracious and charming. Suddenly he stopped and turned in the direction of Walter Winchell, who was seated across the table from me. His voice grew a trifle shaky.

"Walter," he said, "in each gathering, there must be some serious note. You have been saying things about people in your column for years. I wonder if you, yourself, can really take it?"

Mr. Winchell nodded.

"Go ahead," he said.

Mr. Carroll wet his lips.

"There are some wonderful people here," was his startling statement, "and I don't think you're fit to be with decent people. You don't belong."

With that, he turned and walked from the floor. The silence that followed was in itself an amusing thing. It was broken by George White, another producer for whom I have never had too high a regard. Yet on this occasion he said a fine thing.

"Walter," he cried loudly, "I'm ashamed of that. I apologize for him."

That broke the tension. Carroll walked from the place, followed by a rising chorus of boos and catcalls.

Mr. Winchell handled himself admirably. He could have leaped to his feet and taken a dramatic poke at Mr. Carroll's chin. Instead he sat quietly and nodded. He had said that he would take it—and he did.

"When do we go?" I asked Mr. Ziegfeld.

"Can't go now," he replied. "It's too exciting. Maybe in 10 minutes."

About two hours later—I really lost track of the time—Mr. Ziegfeld said he thought it was time to go. I looked at him, nodded, and we both walked out to get our coats.

In the rear of the place sat Mr. Sidney Solomon, the manager and — presumably — the major owner of the Central Park Casino. Now it so happens that, ever since the opening night of the Casino some two years back, Mr. Solomon has disliked me. I don't know exactly why—although the fact that I printed my opinion of him and his service corps may have something to do with it. I really meant no harm by that article. All I said was that Mr. Solomon was catering to society exclusively, that his captains were far too ritzy, that his prices were too high and that eventually the place must starve for lack of customers.

Since that time, however, Mr. Solomon and I have become friends. He has patted me on the back and I have patted him. We have even shaken hands upon occasion. Just two devoted, Broadway pals.

I was very much pained to observe that my friend, Sidney, was not himself. But he was still the true friend. He extended a hand in a cordial greeting. And he swayed into the hall with me. Suddenly he stopped.

"Oho," he cried. "Sho you don't wanna talk to me, eh? Well, you're just a — — —."

The thing was so startling that, instead of knocking him flat, I began to laugh. Mr. Solomon turned to Mr. Ziegfeld.

"You, too," he howled, "you're just a — — —."

By this time the hall was filled with men and women who were standing aghast at Sidney's language. You have no idea how it hurt me to see my bosom chum, the owner of New York's snootiest rendezvous, using such words in front of his few remaining customers.

The captains and waiters were trying to hold Mr. Solomon back. But there was no stopping the charming youth.

By this time, Mr. Solomon was again in front of me. He was almost in a helpless state.

"I don't want to hit you, Sidney," I said, "but I'll have to for my own self-respect."

"Stop your kidding," said Mr. Winchell. "Since when have you had self-respect?"

That broke me up. I began to laugh again. They carried Mr. Solomon into a private room, Mr. Ziegfeld and I left . . .

* * *

In the car, I turned to Mr. Ziegfeld.

"Flo," I said, "it was swell of you to bring me here. Now, I've got an invitation for tomorrow night that's gonna be even better than this. It's a party de luxe and we'll only stay for 10 minutes."

"To hell with it," said Mr. Ziegfeld . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS Junior Komic Club

The Saturday meetings of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Clubs, held at the Warner neighborhood theaters, are the high spots in the week for thousands of boys and girls in Pittsburgh and vicinity. Long before the meetings open, attaches of the theaters begin registering new members and distributing membership cards and buttons.

A surprise feature at the Davis meeting Saturday was the appearance of the 10-piece band made up of boys from Enright chapter. The stage program was furnished by pupils from the M. Barth School of Dancing, those appearing being Mary Perelstein, mistress of ceremonies; Robert Finkle, Sylvia Hartzburg, Mercedes Palmer and Ruth Neff. Members of Davis Chapter having a birthday during the week were presented with big birthday cakes, and every child attending the meeting received a bag of candy.

The Squirrel Hill chapter, meeting at the Manor Theater, has a very large membership. A special feature at the last meeting was the appearance of Ted Rhea, the magician. The following children contributed song and dance numbers: Jeanne Caulfield, Betty Jeanne Langer, Virginia Ruth Eberle, Roger Leon Bragan, Lois Pearlman, Marion Glick and Neda Hartz, the two last named being pupils of M. Barth School of Dancing.

Ted Rhea, the magician, appeared also at the Cameraphone Chapter meeting Saturday. In addition to his feats of magic Mr. Rhea introduced some lightning cartoon work, which made a big hit. Henry La Pertche's little orchestra played several numbers and accompanied the group singing. Prizes were awarded and birthday cakes distributed. Katherine Mitchell, an acrobatic and tap dancer, will appear at the next meeting.

HERE WE HAVE SYLLY ON THE STAND TELLING WHY SHE WANTS A DIVORCE FROM AMBY
ATTORNEY ZORN FOR THE PROSECUTION: QUESTION: YOUR NAME, PLEASE? ANSWER: SYLVIA APPLEBY POTTS. Q: HOW LONG HAVE YOU BEEN MARRIED TO MR. POTTS? A: A LITTLE OVER A YEAR. Q: TELL THE JURY AS BRIEFLY AS POSSIBLE JUST WHAT YOUR EXPERIENCE WAS DURING THIS MARRIED PERIOD. A: OUR LIVES HAVE BEEN INCOMPATIBLE HORRIBLE--HORRIBLE. MAYBE THAT'S ALL. Q: TELL US OF SOME OF THE THINGS THAT HAVE MADE THIS UNION IMPOSSIBLE. A: HE WAS CONSTANTLY COMPLAINING ABOUT MONEY MATTERS--WAS NOT SATISFIED WITH MY COOKING OR ANYTHING ELSE I DID--AND SNORE. WELL, IF HE COULD THROW OUT A LITTLE LIGHTNING WITH IT I'D SWEAR IT WAS A THUNDERSTORM--- NEVER SAYS A KIND WORD--WHEN HE ISN'T COMPLAINING YOU'D THINK HE HAD LOCKJAW.
CAN'T YOU OBJECT ABOUT SOMETHIN'--MUST YOU LET HER TELL EVERYTHING?
HOW DID SYLVIA ACT? WAS SHE A GOOD WITNESS?
I DON'T THINK SHE MADE SUCH A HIT WITH THE JURY--SHE WAS DRESSED UP LIKE A CHORUS GIRL--KEPT PATTING HER BEAK WITH A POWDER PUFF AND BETWEEN QUESTIONS SHED TAKE A PEEK AT THAT BEAK TO SEE IF SHE HAD PATTED THE GLOSS OFF OF IT
FOLKS, DON'T FAIL TO COME TO COURT TOMORROW AND LISTEN TO THE CROSS-EXAMINATION OF SYLLY--IT MIGHT BE INTERESTING

GEE, ZERO, I GOT THE WIM-WAMS! - UNCLE PADDY DON'T LIVE WHERE HE USED TO LIVE -- MAYBE HE'S STILL ON HIS TRIP TO IRELAND -- BUT MAYBE HE AIN'T - I JUST GOTTA FIND OUT
KEEP OFF
YOU SEE, PADDY O'FLYAN WAS A SWELL COP -- HE LIVED IN THAT HOUSE -- AN LAST YEAR HE TOOK A TRIP TO IRELAND -- AN I THOUGHT MAYBE YOU COULD PLEASE TELL ME - IS HE BACK OR NOT??
I'M SORRY KID -- I DON'T KNOW ABOUT O'FLYAN -- I'VE ONLY BEEN ON THE FORCE THREE MONTHS MYSELF. YOU MIGHT COME OVER TO THE STATION AND ASK THE DESK SERGEANT
THANKS MISTER -- BUT I CAN'T GO NOW -- I'M AWFUL BUSY!
WE GOTTA BEAT IT, ZERO -- I JUST SAW THAT MEAN OLD MRS MEANEY -- AN I'M AFRAID SHE SAW ME!!

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

WELL GEORGE, I MADE UP MY MIND TO JUST PAY NO ATTENTION TO THOSE FOLKS NEXTDOOR. BUT THIS AFTERNOON HE CAME HOME WITH A LOT OF BUNDLES AND A BIG ROLL OF WIRE. THE KIND YOU TAKE UP ON THE ROOF WITH YOU WHEN YOU TRY TO FIX THE RADIO.
AERIAL WIRE! THE SAME AS I USE! HE'S MECHANICALLY INCLINED.
I WAS IN THE HALL SWEEPING WHEN HE PASSED AND BOWED. SOME OF HIS BUNDLES DROPPED. ONE OF THEM BROKE AND THE FLOOR WAS JUST COVERED WITH THOSE ROUND IRON THINGS YOU'RE ALWAYS LOSING OFF YOUR CAR.
WASHERS! HE MUST BE AN ENGINEER.
HE CERTAINLY UNDERSTANDS AUTOMOBILES. YESTERDAY HIS WIFE COULDN'T START THEIR CAR. HE VERY CALMLY WALKED DOWNSTAIRS AND WITHOUT EVEN RAISING HIS VOICE TO HER GOT IT STARTED AGAIN.
UNDERSTANDS AUTOS, EH? HE PROBABLY KNOWS ALL ABOUT OTHER MACHINERY TOO.
THIS MORNING THEIR DOORBELL WOULDN'T WORK. HE FIXED IT IN ABOUT ONE MINUTE, AND WITHOUT TEARING IT ALL APART AND THEN GETTING EXCITED BECAUSE HE COULDN'T FIND THE PARTS TO PUT IT TOGETHER AGAIN.
A MECHANICAL GENIUS, I SUPPOSE. WELL IF HE TALKED ENGLISH I'D PROBABLY FIND WE AGREED ON A LOT OF THINGS ELECTRICITY AND SO FORTH

A Good Example

Mayor McCloskey, of Johnstown, Shows Commendable Zeal to Serve the People.

More power to Mayor Eddie McCloskey of Johnstown! He has taken up the cudgels for the people in an effort to obtain relief from excessive public utilities rates. Would that more executives of Pennsylvania cities would show such zeal!

McCloskey contends that gas, electric, water and telephone rates are all too high. Applying the standard of reproduction costs to the measurement of the utilities companies' investment and the fair return on it to which they are entitled, a standard which they themselves employed when labor and material costs were high, Johnstown's militant Mayor finds that rates should come down 25 per cent. For the utilities companies' plants and equipment could now be constructed, he declares, for from 25 to 35 per cent less than the valuation placed on them for rate purposes.

McCloskey's opinion that the struggle for reasonable utilities rates should be taken up officially by the municipal governments of the places chiefly affected is sound. The Boards of Trade should not be required to shoulder the whole burden.

Abuse of Authority

Police Officials Should Be Held Strictly to Account for Illegal Practices.

It develops through habeas corpus proceedings instituted in Common Pleas Court to secure the release of a prisoner held by the police that although no formal charge was made against the man he was locked up and denied the privilege of bail.

Judge Ambrose B. Reid, presiding in the case, called attention to the illegality of the procedure and warned the police that unless they gave the defendant an immediate hearing he would order his release.

Incidents of this sort occur frequently. If it were an isolated case, the police might plead that they had acted in ignorance of the law. But they have been rebuked by the judges for this very thing again and again, and, notwithstanding the censure, continue the practice.

Supt. Peter P. Walsh or someone else in authority ought to see that every policeman is personally instructed on this matter. If other instances of such abuse of power occur, Walsh, or whoever is to blame, should be held strictly to account.

Indispensable

Pennsylvania Cannot Get Along Without the Proposed Psychiatric Hospital.

From Senator Frank Harris, sponsor for the proposed State Psychiatric Hospital to be erected on the University of Pittsburgh campus, we learn that most of the preliminary work has been done and that the next step is to ask the Legislature for a $2,000,000 appropriation for the erection of the building.

Committees of physicians and state officials have carefully studied the project, the university has conveyed the site to the commonwealth, and the architect has been chosen.

Persuading the Legislature to grant the money may be the most difficult step in the entire program, but it should not be.

The Bureau of the Census has just published the results of the third annual enumeration of patients in state hospitals for mental disease. It reports that in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, taken as a group, the hospitals are seriously overcrowded, caring for 24.5 per cent above their capacity.

The proposed psychiatric hospital in Pittsburgh will help to relieve the congestion. Still more important, it will save multitudes of persons with incipient mental disease from having to go to the asylum.

The psychiatric hospital will be the only state institution of the kind in Pennsylvania, and its purpose will be to take care of psychiatric cases in their early stages and cure them.

No Forgotten Cases

It Is Reassuring to Learn That the State Police Periodically Review Unsolved Crimes.

A serious crime is committed. The criminal escapes, or his identity is not known. Years pass without an arrest. Do the police forget about the case? Is the record marked "unsolved" and filed away in a pigeonhole to gather dust?

It is reassuring to know that that is not the case so far as the state police are concerned. Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the force, has taken the public into his confidence as to the methods followed by the troopers, and we learn that a case is never closed with them until the criminal has been brought to justice.

Periodically every unsolved crime, no matter how remote in time, is taken up anew and the available evidence reviewed. Sometimes it happens that a new reader of the record will find a clew in some apparently insignificant trifle that previous investigators did not consider important, and thus after a long lapse the criminal will be brought to book.

It would be interesting to know if this system of periodically re-investigating unsolved crimes is also followed by the city police and county detectives.

Much Ado About Nothing

Pitcairn High School Students' Strike Is Disturbing as Showing Lack of Discipline.

Pitcairn High School students went on strike last week. They paraded through the streets carrying banners, and some of them were arrested on the charge of disorderly conduct. This week the strikers returned to school.

The ostensible motive for the strike was that the students desired thus to protest against the discharge of a popular instructor. The school authorities said, however, that the teacher was leaving because of ill health—and he himself confirmed the statement.

So the strike was much ado about nothing.

Several such strikes have occurred in Pittsburgh and the vicinity every year of late.

And from the irritating slap

Let us refrain and we shall find
We've our own business to mind.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The metropolitan curiosity over celebrities has resulted in several near panics in the Broadway section. Only prompt action of cordons of police prevented them. Most of the potential disasters were around movie and legitimate theaters on opening nights.

I was one of the innocents caught up in the slog the other evening. And for a brief moment was taken off my feet and swept along with a tide that in a few more seconds would have been a screaming and hysterical mob. Several had already fallen to the pavement.

As it was, two buttons were yanked off my overcoat and my hat was lost. And a fellow innocent nearby was minus his bill fold. The cause of the sudden crush was the exit of a movie star from the theater to the curb to enter her limousine.

The quick flair of such eruptions is an odd phenomenon. One second the crowd was moving leisurely and suddenly a ripple of excitement like fire in dry grass. Necks were craned and the mighty crush set in. The rest was a confusing blur.

I emerged from the experience with a new respect for the police, especially an Irish copper with a rich brogue who shouldered his way to the midst of things. "It's all right, folks," he called. "I'm here with you and nothing is going to happen. It's just a lot of fun."

There was an assurance in his voice and the black gather of fear melted magically. The two greatest magnets for the curiosity mobs are ex-Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker. The crowds spot their low numbered cars which are permitted to park outside theaters.

Incidentally, I see no reason for this privilege when life is endangered. While the distinguished gentlemen, of course, are not responsible for such psychological mass behavior it seems to me their cars should not be permitted to tangle traffic into such a dangerous knot.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Have you seen the play, or read the book, "Grand Hotel?" Yes? Then you'll remember Grusinskaia, the dancer. Particularly if you are a woman over 40, will you remember Grusinskaia, lovely but ageing—and desperate.

For years she has queened it across the footlights—thistledown symbol of romance—

Now she is getting old—men no longer breathe faster, drive nails into clenched hands, as she pirouettes on slender, disdainful feet—as she smiles with cool, remote eyes.

Tonight, for the first time, the audience has hissed. She crawls to her room—broken. There, alone, she gives way to her despair . . . the terrible despair of the woman whose youth has passed and for whom life holds nothing more.

Men gaze curiously at that scene in the play "Grand Hotel." They wonder, perhaps, why a woman should make such a fuss over something that didn't matter. Now, if she had lost a big block of stocks . . . or had taken a beating in a business deal . . . that would be different. But to grow so desperate merely because there was a slight stiffness in her knees, a faint wrinkling about the eyes . . . how idiotic! But then—women are like that.

Men gaze curiously at desperate Grusinskaia . . . but women do not gaze curiously. Women understand. They know that despair. Even in America women know that despair.

Here are hundreds of thousands of American women who have desired and who have won equal rights with men. They share schools with those men. They share jobs and careers and adventures. They may and do hunt lions in Africa, sit in the Senate at Washington, wear police uniforms, chart stars, run hospitals, build bridges, jail racketeers—do practically anything on earth that a man does with equal zest and profit.

AND YET IN HER SECRET HEART OF HEARTS, NEARLY EVERY AMERICAN WOMAN FEELS THAT HER LIFE IS OVER AT FORTY!

Her grandma felt that way—of course. Her grandma had a right to. She held her place as a female. Beloved. Cherished. Revered. But just a female, nevertheless. And nothing else but. Naturally, gray hairs and wrinkles put a considerable cramp in her career. "The fatal forties" they were indeed, for that grandma.

BUT WHY SHOULD HER GRANDDAUGHTER FEAR GRAY HAIR?

WHY SHOULD LIFE, FOR HER, LOSE ITS ZEST WHEN ROMANCE COOLS?

Why should you, Mary Jones, feel that lump in your throat when you remember the days when you were 20? Why should you, under your carefully careless laugh, feel fear tightening around you like a band, as you watch the years pass?

Life over at 40? But you'll still be very much alive after 40. Quite as healthy. Just as intelligent. Probably freer than you have been for years. All the opportunities that are open to a man over 40 will be open to you. There will be nothing to hold you back, but your own laziness, your own cowardice. . .AND YOUR OWN SILLINESS.

AND THERE'S NOTHING ON EARTH SILLIER THAN AN AMERICAN WOMAN'S FEAR OF 40. . .NOR MORE SENSELESS THAN HER USUAL SLUMP.

"But a woman' isn't physically as fit over 40," you say.

No. And neither is a man. But you don't see the boys crawling off into corners and sobbing softly over old Valentines, do you?

Shanghai and Crime Of Crippling Our Navy

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Whatever the rest of the world may think about it, Japan is proceeding with a dispatch indicative of thorough preparation on a well-thought-out plan in China. There is a bit of pent-up feeling perhaps in her impatience with the protests of other countries. This had its origin many years ago after another little brush with China when Japan, claiming the spoils of war, decided to hold Manchuria for her excess population. It was then that Russia, taking the initiative, persuaded England and Germany, and, we believe, France, to join in a demand to Japan to get out. At the moment, the Japanese were worn with the war, and financially in no position for a major conflict.

There was nothing to do but get out; and she got out carrying in her heart a bitter resentment. When, immediately after that, the Chinese permitted Russia to go in and build the railroad from Siberia across Manchuria to Port Arthur, this bitterness was intensified. When, soon afterward, the late Senator Beveridge went to Manchuria to study the conditions, in preparation for his book, "The Russian Advance," he discussed this state of mind of the Japanese with much detail; and concluded that the Russians intended to dominate Manchuria, and that the Japanese would not tolerate it, and that a war between Russia and Japan would result. He was laughed to scorn by the wise critics, and before the book he wrote had been out a week his prediction was fulfilled. There was a war and Japan won.

* * *

Japanese Demand Room to Expand

The Japanese problem of expansion for the accommodation of her excess population and the feeding of her people remained; and whatever Japan may say, it is difficult to believe that she is not now bent on the realization of her old ambition. Just as she is pressing forward toward its realization she encounters again the protests, but less militant in tone, from the nations that deprived her of the spoils of war many years ago. This is enough to account for her almost arrogant indifference to what other nations say.

There is much that Japan can say on the subject of treaties being violated; but there is no answer to the charge that she herself has shed her treaty obligations lightly. She is a member of the League of Nations and pledged to a peaceable accommodation of differences; but she renounces the obligation. And under the Kellogg pact, which never has been anything more than a pious prayer without anything behind it but a hope, she renounced war—"outlawed war," they said at the time—and agreed:

"The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means."

And she has renounced the Kellogg pact.

* * *

Another War Will Bring Collapse

Well, what are we going to do about it? The sympathy of the average American is with the Chinese—the "under-dog." Our sympathy has always been with China when she was violated by Britain and German and France as well as Japan. But we are not in possession of the facts, in all their ramifications, relating to this particular conflict between the two Oriental peoples.

And no American, not primarily interested in using the blood of slaughtered boys to lubricate the machinery of money-making wants or will justify any war on our part.

We have been overfed on war and we have not digested what we ate. We will not digest it for another generation. The world is struggling against collapse because of the last war; and another war will bring the collapse.

But every American will expect that the government at Washington will take the necessary steps to get our nationals out of the danger zone, and will protect our property interests in that section insofar as it is possible. If at the time of the battle of Gettysburg a German-owned mill had been in the line of fire we would not have called the battle off. We certainly would have paid the damages. But human life is another thing.

* * *

Americans Must Leave Danger Zone

The American people have a right to expect that our nationals in China will willingly act on any plan the government here may devise for getting them out of the danger zone during the crisis. We have always had a type of American, particularly in other countries, who are prone to become chesty, defiant, and a little insolent; and when these having it within their power to escape the danger, insist on running into it, and getting killed, we have a type of American over here who vehemently demand that the entire nation shall become involved in war to back his bad judgment and extravagant ideas. We want none of that this time.

We want to liquidate the last war before we enter into another world war.

* * *

Criminal to Weaken Our National Defense

But the conditions of the world today are such that it is little less than criminal to weaken our instrumentalities of self-defense in the face of a peril. However sincerely we may strive to keep out of war, there is the possibility that we may be forced in some time for our own defense. Conditions, outwardly at least, in the spring of 1914 were eloquent of peace compared with conditions today. The armies of Europe are greater now than they were before the shot was fired in a Balkan town one tragic summer day.

But in the face of these facts the government at Washington proposes to reduce our small army, and to economize at the expense of our navy. At the Washington Conference in 1921 it was agreed that the United States and Japan in their navies should have a ratio of 3 to 2. Because Japan has been building up to her rights under the treaty and the United States has been neglecting her duty and slighting her navy, at the present rate, within a short time, Japan will have a navy as great as ours.

It is barely possible that the American officials responsible may one day bear a responsibility greater than any one would care to bear.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

They are more courteous to the well-groomed man or woman and slight the ones who are shabby.

Unfortunately there are many people who cannot get away from outside appearance in estimating the value of certain friends and acquaintances.

But often the person who wears cheap clothes pays for what he gets, while the more expensively dressed fails to pay his debts.

The former is more to be admired, but according to your standard of judgment, if you are in favor of the man who pays his debts, you are not giving him the sort of treatment he merits when you notice his clothes, to criticize.

Then often you are deceived as to true value.

But, since clothes do mean so much to some, in the scheme of things, it behooves a person to dress as well as income will permit.

The applicant for a position should be particularly careful to look tidy and clean, but not expensively dressed.
